Mile-A-Minute Crash Injures 45

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A New York Central Railroad flier, clipping along at better than a mile a minute, smashed into a derailed oil-tank car early today, setting off an explosion which rocked midtown Erie.

Almost miraculously, no one was killed. Between 40 and 50 were injured, but no one was burned, although flames from the burning tanker leaped high into the air and lapped at some of the cars on the palatial westbound New England States Express.

The engineer of the Boston-to-Chicago Express had no chance to keep his train from hitting the tank car. It was hurled into the express' path from a freight train traveling eastbound on a parallel track. Both he and his fireman escaped injury.

Only one of the 14 cars on the streamliner caught fire. It was the dormitory car for dining car employees. More than 10 occupants scrambled to safety through a lone exit which remained open. One unidentified waiter said:

"Everyone just scrambled around. We had been sleeping. Some of us got two left shoes, some got one shoe and some got none. But we all got out of there in a hurry."

Nearly 50 firemen, aided by as many police, were at the scene, only five blocks from midtown Erie, within minutes after the 1.15 a.m. E.S.T. crash. They kept the fire from engulfing the train and aided in rescuing passengers.

Nearly 50 passengers were trapped in the only car which overturned.

Twelve of the injured passengers were admitted to hospital, but are not in critical condition. At least 10 others on the express, including one crew member, were treated and discharged.

So were two of the rescuers who battered windows with their bare fists to free the injured.

Upwards of 20 doctors reached the scene within 30 minutes. They treated many persons on the spot for minor injuries.

Eleven cars of the train were cast about like jackstraws. Their all-steel construction not only kept them from catching fire but prevented a catastrophe, said an unidentified crew member.

MENACE IN BERLIN

Bevin Nails Red Lie U.S. Plans Aggression

MARGATE, Eng. (Reuter)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, just back from the foreign ministers' talks in New York, said today he wanted to nail the lie that the United States would ever be aggressors.

The lie was "sent out by Russia to try to blind the people of the world, and unfortunately a lot of weak-minded people keep repeating it," Bevin told the annual convention of the British Labor Party.

"I do not believe the United States will ever be aggressors. There is no sign of it," Bevin, cheered loudly, said: "I have tried ever since I took office to be friends with Russia."

"There is no one who has stood at this rostrum who would stand more insults, more abuse—who has put up with more than I have from Molotov and Vishinsky."

"I have looked beyond Molotov and Vishinsky and have looked for peace and I will carry on, whatever they said."

"I have discussed these problems with Joseph Stalin at Moscow. I offered on behalf of the government a 50-year treaty of peace. I asked why a little country like Turkey should for five years be in a war of nerves."

"In Berlin we were very near to war. Without one word to us, 2,500,000 people were suddenly cut off from food."

"We saw it through. That was aggression."

The Foreign Secretary said that in Korea the Security Council did the only thing they could do "they resisted."

U.S. Sweeper Sent Down By Korean Mine

22 Sailors Missing From Lost Maggie

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Navy announced today the minesweeper Maggie has been sunk by a floating mine near North Korea. Twenty-one men are missing.

It was the third U.S. ship to hit a mine in Korean waters. Two destroyers—the Brush and the Mansfield—were damaged by earlier collisions with mines and 11 men on the Brush were lost.

The Maggie hit a mine Sunday near the city of Ch'uk-san-Dong. Twelve survivors were picked up by a sister ship, the minesweeper Merganser, and carried to Pusan, Korea.

The 136-foot wooden hulled Maggie struck the mine on her starboard side and sank about two miles off shore.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, navy chief of operations, told a congressional committee last Monday that a "great many" Russian-made floating mines had been found in Korean waters. He said they had been "recently laid and not long out of the storehouse."

SEVEN INJURED
Seven crew members were injured in a mine explosion that damaged the destroyer Mansfield last Saturday.

Eleven were killed, 10 injured and three missing in a similar blast that tore a hole in the bottom of the destroyer Brush three days earlier.

Sherman called the mines illegal. He explained the Hague Convention—an international agreement signed at The Hague—outlawed floating mines because they might drift into the ships of neutral countries.

Sherman said the mines apparently had been cast adrift by the North Koreans.

U.N. Bigwigs Watch Series With Interest

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (CP)—Delegates to the United Nations Wednesday concentrated on a world problem just as absorbing as Korea—and they were just as divided.

L. B. Pearson, who describes Philadelphia Phillies as a "kind of farm team for Toronto (Maple Leafs)," sat in the lounge to watch the game with Brig.-Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines. His choice of the Whiz Kids, the Canadian External Affairs Minister explained, was a display of partisanship for which he thought Brooklynites would forgive him.

Romulo, who used to play the game at shortstop, which he said was often "more short than stop," is a Yankee fan.

Other delegates watched the proceedings on the television set in the plush lounge with expressions ranging from the polite bewilderment of the French delegation to the boredom of some of the Far Eastern delegates.

Pearson, growing more gloomy as the ninth inning waned and his favorites were still trailing by a run, waved aside a receptionist who had a call for him.

"The privilege of a foreign minister," he explained.

Pakistan Army Repels Afghans

KARACHI, Pakistan (UP)—Pakistani warplanes and troops counter-attacked and began pushing back an invasion force from Afghanistan some 425 miles north of Karachi, the Ministry of Defence announced.

The Afghan invaders struck across the border Sept. 30 in the Dobandi area and drove four miles inside Pakistan territory by Oct. 2, the ministry said.

It said the Afghan force, led by Brig. Ghafoor Khan, planned to take the Quetta-Chaman railway as its first objective. But it added that Pakistani civil and regular troops, with air force support, are pushing the Afghans back toward the border.

The distance and the number of troops involved were not specified.

The only information on the fighting was that the Afghans succeeded in pushing past Pakistani civil troops to the foot of the Bagra Pass in the rugged mountainous terrain of Pakistan's Baluchistan province on the northern frontier.

AIRMEN BUSY

There the air force and regular Pakistani troops drove them back "with the object of expelling them from Pakistan territory."

Relations between Pakistan and Afghanistan have been strained for some time over territory along the border region.

The Afghans recently intensified their campaign for creation of an independent Pukhtoonistan State made up of tribal territories in eastern Afghanistan and western Pakistan.

Afghan leaders have contended that Pakistan had no legal claim to tribal territories between the so-called Durand Line, which defines the Afghan-Pakistan border and the Indus River.

Some political quarters have predicted for some time that the dispute might lead to warfare.

Atrocity Toll In North Korea Mounts Grimly

Minimum Estimate So Far, 25,000

TOKYO (AP)—The Communist retreat trail back to North Korea is strewn with buried and unburied bodies of an officially-estimated 25,000 murdered men, women and children in South Korea.

Where they could, the Reds covered the evidence of horrible brutalities with earthen entrenchments. In haste of retreat, they left many bodies in exposed mounds at some places.

Some of the victims were U.S. soldiers taken prisoner by the Communist army, but the total of these is not known.

American officers say the overall 25,000 figure is only a minimum estimate. The tragic toll may run much higher.

South Koreans say most of the victims were bludgeoned, speared, burned or hacked with hatchets for opposing Communism.

Mass graves, large and small, are being turned up in city, town, village and hamlet along the bloody retreat route.

Many graves have not yet been opened by American officers probing the mass murders.

Honeymoon Reunion

The walkout has forced the closing of many factories in the affected area, including some engaged in production of vital export goods.

Ready To Penetrate Iron Curtain North

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO (AP)—A United Nations Army of up to 175,000 troops massed today to yank down the Iron Curtain of Parallel 38 and wipe out Communist resistance in all Korea.

The non-Korean allies, who have been kept south of the artificial border, stood ready to cross and join South Koreans who have already pierced the Curtain and probed 60 miles or more into the Communist-ruled Northland.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters made it clear that all his forces are ready to go into North Korea as needed.

Non-Korean troops had been held south of the 38th Parallel since the South Koreans stabbed across Sunday.

The question of their crossing from liberated South Korea was considered only as a military issue. MacArthur's headquarters said, and not as a political hurdle at this stage.

The United Nations at Lake Success Wednesday night directed MacArthur, in effect, to use any means at his command to unify Korea.

Parallel 38 was drawn originally to designate American and Russian zones for acceptance of the Japanese surrender after the Second World War.

The Allied political aim is a unified, independent Korea. Inducted and armed by Russia, the North Koreans plunged across the parallel June 25. The historic initial U.N. armed peace-enforcement action crushed the Red invaders in three months.

To mop up the remnants, the U.N. forces waited only for completion of the build-up eastward from the Seoul-Inchon west coast area and for final decisions on strategy.

The Red regime continued to ignore surrender ultimatums first aired by MacArthur last Sunday and repeated since.

Little Resistance In South

In one of the few remaining actions in South Korea, American Marines punched northward Thursday from rubble Uijongbu, 20 miles south of 38 and about 11 miles northeast of Seoul. Resistance was scattered.

On the east coast, the South

Korean 3rd Division was 60 miles north of the Red border. It was within 25 miles of Tongchon, where the Communists might attempt a stand in defence of Wonsan, an industrial centre some 25 miles farther north.

By Thursday morning, at least 20,000 Korean Republican troops were already in Communist territory—the Capital Division in land and the 3rd on the Sea of Japan coast.

Other South Korean divisions totalling perhaps 30,000 men were either across the boundary or arrayed along it.

There has been speculation—official and other—as to whose orders sent the Republican forces across the boundary Sunday. But if it had been a hot potato, it evidently had cooled enough for handling by American military sources. They said:

"Gen. MacArthur had as much authority over the South Korean forces as he does over an American division."

Moving forward with Allied ground forces, seven squadrons of jet and other fighter planes now are on new bases. From these points closer to Parallel 38, the air force said, any target in North Korea is within easy range of airborne rockets and jet-fuelled fire bombs.

The air-battered Communist territory hitherto has been mainly the hunting ground of heavy bombers based in Japan and Okinawa. They already have wiped out big industrial centres, but their assaults on rail lines continue, although with diminishing targets.

Behind the Allied forces gathering south of Red territory, trapped and widely-scattered North Korean remnants are turning increasingly toward vicious guerrilla activities.

MacArthur's spokesman noted the increase of Red raider action and said it might create a serious harassment of rear areas.

Storm Whips Past Nova Scotia Coast

HALIFAX (CP)—A tropical hurricane whipped past Nova Scotia today after changing its course. It had been expected that the storm, with winds up to 90 miles an hour, would rake the Nova Scotia coast.

However, winds of 70 miles an hour in gusts were forecast for southern Newfoundland as the blow swept northeastward.

Forecasters said Wednesday night that if the storm should continue in the path it was taking at that time, it would hit Nova Scotia about noon today.

DiMaggio's Homer
Puts Yanks 2 UpClipper's First Hit Of Series Ends Close Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (CP)—Joe DiMaggio's 10th-inning home run gave New York Yankees a 2 to 1 victory today over Philadelphia Phillies in the second game of the World Series, giving the New Yorkers a 2 to 0 lead. It was DiMaggio's seventh home run in World Series play.

Allie Reynolds went all the way to earn the victory over Robin Roberts before 32,660 fans. Friday's game will be played in New York.

The Yankee Clipper's belt broke up a fine battle between the Yankee fire-balling righthander and 24-year-old Roberts, the Phils' first 20-game winner since Grover Cleveland Alexander.

The game Phils carried the struggle down to the last out with pinch-hitter Jack Mayo on second base with a potential tying run when Reynolds breezed a third strike past Dick Sisler to end the first extra-inning series game since the 1946 opener.

It was the second straight day that Sisler had been struck out to end the game.

Although nicked for 10 hits along the route, Roberts was able to bear down so well in the clutches that the Yanks popped up his pitches all afternoon. They didn't hit a ball on the ground until the eighth.

Still Reynolds, with an efficient seven-hitter, well deserved his third straight World Series success. He has never lost one of these big money games.

$4,700 Hold-up
Arrest Nears

VANCOUVER (CP)—Detectives, acting on a woman's tip, believed today they had cracked the $4,700 hold-up of the Canada Packers Ltd. payroll office.

Donald Olsen, 29, was charged with robbery with violence after he was arrested Wednesday in his South Vancouver home and a pick-up order was issued for two companions. Police reported $900 of the loot was recovered.

The robbery occurred last Thursday as clerks were making up the weekly payroll at the meat packing plant.

Police said the youngsters both carried .22-calibre rifles, purchased in Calgary as part of a three-province spending spree. They had 20 boxes of shells.

They told of carrying the money in an old shopping bag, spending between $400 and $500 and passing out $5 tips to waitresses and other workers.

The youngsters were picked up at the C.P.R. station Wednesday night by railway police and turned over to city detectives, who spent a large part of the night counting folding money.

C.P.R. police had been expecting the lads. Their fathers thought they would probably head for the coast. They disappeared from their Saskatoon homes Tuesday.

Because of the financially solvent boys' ages, police would not disclose their names.

EGYPT OFFERS MILLION MEN TO U.N. IF ARMED

By MAX HARBELSON

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Egypt was reported today to have offered to contribute an army of 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 men as part of a permanent international force if the United States and other United Nations members will supply the arms and equipment.

Informed quarters said the offer was made by Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah-El-Din at a private luncheon given yesterday by Secretary of State Dean Acheson for heads of the Arab U.N. delegations.

The offer was understood to have been made on the condition that British troops are withdrawn from Egyptian soil.

ALL VIENNA TRAINS
BLOCKED BY REDSPolice Fail To Halt Demonstrators
Who Held Up Traffic For Three Hours

VIENNA (AP)—Communist demonstrators halted all rail traffic into and out of Vienna for three hours today. Tracks on the east-west line from the American occupation zone into Vienna were the first ones cleared of road blocks and traffic resumed.

A flying squad of several hundred Communists piled railway ties across the tracks of that line at St. Poelten, in the Russian zone, west of Vienna. Other lines were blocked the same way and the Communists stood guard over the barricades at many points.

Crowds of shouting Communists, apparently angered over the failure of yesterday's general strike call stormed the rail and road centres.

Police, despite Russian orders not to interfere tried unsuccessfully to stop the demonstrators.

The Reds occupied two federal post office and telephone exchange buildings and were driven off by police in an attempt on a third. Other bands roamed Vienna streets, stopping streetcar traffic and fighting with car operators.

The Communists early today seized the post office at Baden, the Soviet military headquarters. Wednesday night they occupied the communications centre in Wiener Neustadt, also in the Russian zone.

The Austrian news agency reported that Red squads also tried to seize the federal post office in St. Poelten, 30 miles west of Vienna, but the "demonstrators" were driven away and dispersed by police.

Lawyers Probe
Undeclared
Rape Case

Members of the legal profession today are investigating the reason why Patrick R. Mullen, 24, convicted of rape at Assize Court Wednesday was allowed by the Crown to go to trial on such a serious charge without counsel.

Mullen was without legal advice and defended his own case. "I received a report that he tried to get a lawyer. I don't know why he was unable to get one," Crown Prosecutor R. A. Wootton said. He should have asked for a counsel when he appeared for trial, Mr. Wootton added.

A spokesman for the Attorney-General's department said the Crown was not obliged to supply counsel for rape, if an accused could not afford a lawyer. In the case of murder, however, counsel was always supplied to the accused.

Raindrops No Hazard For These Victoria Girls

Taking no chances on a possible let-up of the rain early this morning as they came downtown for work were Mrs. Madeline Briggs, 2877 Dysart Road (left), and Mrs. Johann Nott, 342 Michigan Street. The weatherman promised more scattered showers for late today, and predicted it would be cloudy overnight and Friday.

Thought Victoria's Passing Showers
Presaged Rain Like California's

By DICK FRAUL

As a California refugee drawn to fabled Victoria by colorful travel folders, two grim facts faced me this morning as I awoke to the tune of thumping raindrops:

1. The American dollar was just a dollar, one hundred Canadian cents and no more.

2. The rainy season, as we call the early fall in the dewier portions of California, seemed to be definitely on.

The city editor of the Daily Times, who would give an eyebrow to inhale some of that San Francisco fog, reassured me, however, as I reported in for assignment.

"No rainy season here," he said, staring out through the curtain of precipitation.

Other somewhat cheering news filtered into the city room as the morning wore on.

At Gonzales Point, forecaster William Burton pointed out the barometer was rising. He said the sun was due to break through before long, but passed hurriedly over the fact that there has been only .12 minutes of sunshine since late Monday.

"I've been reading about that smog you've been having down in California," Mr. Burton retorted. "No smog here, you know."

Mr. Burton handed out some rainfall figures. Precipitation in Victoria for the 24-hour period ending at 4:30 a.m. today measured .21 of an inch. Total rain fall the past 48 hours has been .38 of an inch.

An inch of rain fell on the west coast of the island during the 24 hours ending this morning and slightly over three-quarters of an inch was measured during the same period at Vancouver Airport.

Later in the morning, with the clouds showing some signs of a break in the weather, I tried to phone George Warren, the island's publicist, for a statement. George moved up here from the orange and sunshine belt many years ago and stayed on. But his phone was busy. Presumably, other Californians were trying to learn when the weather would clear up.

She was also remanded on the charge of failing to make a written report of an accident.

Magistrate Hall remanded judgment out of deference to the justices of the Court of Appeal.

Charge against Mrs. Tait arose out of a collision between young cyclist Donald Banister, son of Sgt. Thomas Banister of the city police.

FIGHTING WIFE'S CASE

Lawyer Husband Loses
Case In Appeal Court

Ernest L. Tait, veteran Victoria lawyer, fighting to have a city police traffic charge dismissed against his wife, lost his case in Appeal Court today.

Tait applied to the highest court in B.C. for an order calling on city police Magistrate H. C. Hall to show cause why the charge should not be dismissed.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran was the only dissenting judge on the bench. He did not give his reasons for opposing the judgment of the court.

Chinese
Say War
To Go On

TOKYO (AP)—Beating down the strongest resistance yet encountered in North Korea, the Korean Republic's 3rd Division today seized Changjon, 60 air miles north of the 38th Parallel.

(The B.U.P. meanwhile reported the Chinese Communist radio said today that the Korean war "in its real sense has just begun." It forecast a "drawn-out war of attrition perilous for foreign aggressors.")

U.S. Eighth Army headquarters estimated that a Red infantry division and a company of Red Marines made a stand three miles south of that east coast town.

A.P. correspondent William Jordan, with the fast-moving Republican Division, said the town fell to the South Koreans after an all-day fight. His information evidently was several hours more recent than that at Eighth Army headquarters.

Thirty-five miles south of this deepest penetration of North Korea, the Republican Capital Division engaged a by-passed force of about 1,200 Reds in the hills west of Hwangpo.

The first notable show of Red defence came as a United Nations army of up to 175,000 troops was massing to yank down the Iron Curtain all along Parallel 38 and wipe out Communist resistance in all of Korea.

The non-Korean allies, who have been kept south of the artificial border, stood ready to cross and join South Koreans who have already pierced the curtain and probed 60 miles or more into the Communist-ruled northland.

The question of their crossing from liberated South Korea was considered only as a military issue. MacArthur's headquarters said, and not as a political hurdle at this stage.

The United Nations at Lake Success Wednesday night directed MacArthur, in effect, to use any means at his command to unify Korea.

Parallels 38 was drawn originally to designate American and Russian zones for acceptance of the Japanese surrender after the Second World War.

The Allied political aim is a unified, independent Korea. Indoctinated and armed by Russia, the North Koreans plunged across the parallel June 25. The historic initial U.N. armed peace-enforcement action crushed the Red invaders in three months.

To mop up the remnants, the U.N. forces waited only for completion of the build-up eastward from the Seoul-Inchon west coast area and for final decisions on strategy.

The Red regime continued to ignore surrender ultimatums first aired by MacArthur last Sunday and repeated since.

In one of the few remaining actions in South Korea, American Marines punched northward Thursday from rubble Uijongbu, 20 miles south of 38 and about 11 miles northeast of Seoul. Resistance was scattered.

On the east coast, the South Korean 3rd Division was 60 miles north of the Red border. It was within 25 miles of Tongchon, where the Communists might attempt a stand in defence of Wonsan, an industrial centre some 25 miles farther north.

The grey-haired lawyer when asked what he thought of the judgment said: "I tried hard, didn't I. If I want to, I can now take the case to the Supreme Court of Canada."

At the same time as the judgment was being handed down by the Appeal Court, in city police court Mrs. Tait was remanded to next Wednesday for judgment on the charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

She was also remanded on the charge of failing to make a written report of an accident.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

CLANS AND COLOR

AT the risk of offending the Scottish susceptibilities of my two newly-acquired readers, the bearded and aristocratic lady goats of Cobble Hill, named Argyll and Sterling, I am devoting this column to an interesting bit of news which has shaken Scottish clans to their very marrows.

Especially as it comes at a time when clan sentiment has been aroused by the clarion call to them to assemble next year in Edinburgh, decked out in all their regalia, to emphasize the romantic side of Scotland as a prelude to the Festival of Britain.

JOLT FROM JAMAICA

IN BROADCASTING the invitation to "brither Scots" the world over to come "hame" next year, the Clan Robertson found itself faced with a "fly in the ointment." It seems that a former chieftain of the clan in question many years ago left his homeland—as, oddly enough, so many other Scots have done, both before and since—in order to become a planter in the West Indies.

Now along comes his grandson, Langton George Duncan Haldane Robertson, to claim the honor of being the 26th chief of the clan whose origin goes back to the 12th century. But while the office of the Lord Lyon King of Arms, who settles questions of kinsmanship, heraldry, etc., for clans as well as for the peerage, states that he is the hereditary chief, there is disputation in the dovecots of the dour, despite the Scottish flavor of his name.

SCHOLAR AND OCTOON

FOR IT SEEMS that the claimant is an octoon—that is, he has an eighth of colored blood in his veins. And not even the fact that the 51-year-old chieftain is a history master at Munro College, Kingston, Jamaica, and a Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society of London, can offset that damning fact in the eyes of some of his fellow clansmen.

Last year, on the death of his father, he succeeded to the chieftainship and announced his intention of returning to Scotland. But there was so much hostility to his succession—there had been in the case of his father—that he cancelled his trip. And it looked as if the matter was closed.

CLAIMS COLOR NO BAR

IT WAS REVIVED again at the annual meeting of the Clan Robertson Society, which was formed two years ago as a non-sectarian, non-political organization for the fostering of clan sentiment. At this recent meeting, it was obvious that there were differences of opinion on the matter of the Jamaican's claim to the chieftainship.

Dr. George Robertson vigorously went for the anti-Langton crowd, attacking the suggestion of a color bar and asserting that all men are equal. He was supported by Major Hamish Robertson, who bluntly told the gathering: "We don't care whether he is black, yellow, pink, purple or white, if he is a good clansman."

HEAD-LESS HORDE

IN THE MEANTIME, there the matter rests, if uneasily. And it will be intriguing to see which side wins and whether the disputed chieftain will head the hordes of Robertsons and their ilk when they gather in the shade of Edinburgh Castle next year, or whether that horde will be head-less. Knowing little about clan precedent and protocol, I am not sure whether anyone else can be deputed to take the chieftain's place, or whether the succession is on a par with the divine right of kings—which theory, incidentally, has also received many a jolt in the last few decades.

CAPE BRETON GAELIC

ANOTHER CLAN which has run into a bit of bother is the MacLean clan, to which I alluded in a column some months ago. It will be recalled that the chieftain, Sir Hector MacLean, sent out a call from his eyrie in the Isle of Mull, Scotland, calling all clansmen to the Edinburgh gathering next year. In due course that call reached Nova Scotia, just about the time when that province was holding its annual Gaelic Mod—a cult for preserving the language, customs and lore of the Scottish Highlands.

Anyone knowing anything of Nova Scotia knows that a far larger proportion of the people of Cape Breton speak Gaelic than of those who live in the Highlands of Scotland. So you can imagine the jolt they got to hear, from Sir Hector himself, that he "didn't have the Gaelic." Coming from a chieftain in the Isle of Mull that must sound like treason to Cape Bretoners traditionalists.

After that, one can only hope that the various clansmen who converge upon the Scottish capital next year will at least wear their kilts—or a tam-o'-shanter or bit of plaid—if only to distinguish them from the unco' Sassenachs.

Will Check Sand For Filter Unit

A sample of sand from Crofton will be sent east by Hugh Brockington, Duncan consulting engineer, to have its efficiency as part of the city's sewage filter system tested.

Freight on the eastern sand recommended is $70 per ton, and the filter plant requires nine tons.

Mr. Brockington reported to City Council that a sewer from the high school was four feet lower than the main into which it should discharge. A siphon lift costing $150 would be required, he said.

POPPY SALE APPROVED

Permission was granted by the municipal council Wednesday night for the Remembrance Day Committee to sell poppies in Oak Bay Nov. 4, and to sell wreaths before that date. The move followed a request by E. G. Seymour, campaign manager.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It : BY E. T. WEBSTER

10TH ANNIVERSARY SEASON

Symphony Embarked On Great Advances

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

PROGRAM
Overture: "Die Meistersinger" Wagner
Piano Concerto No. 23 in E Flat Major
Symphonic Variations
The Moldau

The first concert of the Victoria Symphony Society's 10th anniversary season was, in many ways, the most significant of its career. Nearly 200 people were turned away from the Royal Theatre Wednesday night, the house having been sold out by noon Wednesday.

From the music-lover's point of view, the orchestra is obviously embarking upon a season in which great advances will be made. With Hans Gruber commencing his third year as musical director, with a dynamic new concert master and leader of the viola section, the success of the first concert is likely to be repeated on an increasing ratio throughout the remaining seven events.

The choice of Gertrude Huntly-Green as guest soloist for this occasion was a happy one. Not only because she is a former, and most distinguished Victorian but because she combines a warmly gracious manner with her impeccable artistry as a pianist. Also, Madame Huntly-Green takes a keen personal interest in the growth of the Victoria Symphony.

Members of the audience who recalled the elegance of her Mozart playing on former occasions, had their expectations fully realized as the richly varied themes of the E flat Concerto rippled and sang under her fingers. The orchestral part went fluently with good string tone and there was a satisfying harmony of thought between conductor and soloist.

The wedding of orchestra and piano is more complete in the intricately beautiful Symphonic Variations. They were written with equal emphasis for each partner so that an ideal balance is required between the two. With some—though not serious—imperfections, this was still a brilliant and satisfactory performance.

Vancouver violinist, Clifford Evans, and violinist Smythe Humphries, the former at the concert master's desk, have already shown their influence on the string choir and shared in the enthusiastic ovation at the conclusion of the concert.

Navy 'Open House' Week-End Highlight

Training Establishments, Ships Ready For Inspection By Public

An insight into how Canada's fighting navy trains her men for action, plus a look at the ships they man, will be given citizens of this area during the week-end when Navy Day is held Saturday, followed by Battle of the Atlantic Sunday.

It will be open house at H.M.C. Dockyard and H.M.C.S. Naden, with gates open from 1.30 to 5.30 Saturday afternoon.

At Naden, the training centres and schools will be open for inspection, and displays will feature such events as depth charge throwers and torpedoes. Highlighting activities at H.M.C. Dockyard will be displays at the electronic workshop and the central victualling depot.

HARBOR TRIPS

Trips across Esquimalt Harbor aboard craft manned by naval auxiliaries and a ceremonial sunset parade at Naden will also form part of the day's activities.

Visitors will be able to tour the destroyer Crescent, the cruiser Ontario and the training frigates Beacon Hill and Antigonish.

Saturday evening, Pacific Command will be host at a formal Navy Day ball at Naden.

CHURCH SERVICES

Sunday, permanent and reserve force men will attend special church services in memory of comrades who gave their lives during the Battle of the Atlantic. Led by the Naden band, personnel from Naden, Ontario, Crescent, Beacon Hill, Antigonish.

Two Lose Lives As Log Cabin Burns

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Two young men, Elias Youse, 29, and Joseph Marcellais, 24, were burned to death Wednesday when their log cabin was destroyed by fire.

The men were brothers-in-law. Their cabin was at Young's Point, five miles south of The Pas.

Wives of both men were in The Pas when the fire occurred. Neighbors saw the blazing cabin but it was too late to put out the fire. One body was found only three feet from a doorway. R.C.M.P. and Coroner John Ridge investigated. Dr. Ridge said the deaths were accidental and no inquest would be held.

MAGNIFICENT, SAYS MAYOR

Praise for the Community Chest success is given by Mayor Percy George. In a letter to H. B. Binny, campaign chairman, he says, "the magnificent effort justified the tremendous public interest of not only Canada but the U.S. and other nations and communities."

Want Plateau In Strathcona Park

Inclusion of Forbidden Plateau in Strathcona Park, and use of the park as a recreation centre with its primitive nature retained, is being sought by members of Campbell River Fish and Game Association.

R. L. Haig-Brown reported to members of a recent meeting with the Department of Lands regarding the club's effort, and was urged to present their recommendations at the next meeting of affiliated fish and game associations of Vancouver Island.

Personal Service To Be Emphasized By Kinsmen Club

A return to personal service work will be the theme of the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada for the coming year, Ken Pierce, young Montreal businessman and newly-named national head of the organization, told a Pacific Club audience Wednesday.

Other club objectives this year will be to boost the national membership from its present 9,058 figure to over 10,000 and continue providing scholarships for outstanding young doctors to study cancer, Pierce related.

The Victoria Kinsmen Club is the 49th Kinsmen organization Mr. Pierce has visited on his current Dominion-wide tour. He was greeted here by Don Davis, president of the Victoria club, and was accompanied by Bruce Grey, past president of the West Vancouver Kinsmen Club and British Columbia chairman of the Canadian Foundation for Polio.

World Series Play By Play

First Inning

YANKEES—Woodling beat out a slow bouncer for a single. Seminick took Rizzuto's foul pop behind home plate. Berra punched a looping single into short left and Woodling advanced to third. Gollat took DiMaggio's pop behind second. Woodling attempted to score after the catch but scrambled back to third to beat Waitkus' relay. Mize raised a foul pop up to Seminick. No runs, two hits, no errors.

PHILLIES—Waitkus rapped sharply to Coleman. Ashburn dropped a double as Bauer failed to make a shoe-string catch. Sisler took a three ball, then took three strikes, swinging at the last. Coleman made a nice stop and throw to retire Ennis. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning

Yankees—Brown rapped a liner into the hands of Ashburn. Jones caught Bauer's foul pop. Coleman walked on a full count. Reynolds rapped Roberts' first pitch over Waitkus' head for a single, Coleman going to third. Woodling sent a long foul into the upper right-field stands missing a home run by a dozen feet. Woodling got an infield single between third and short. Hamner tried a force at second but Reynolds easily beat the throw to that bag and Coleman crossed the plate. Rizzuto sent a high soft fly to Ashburn. One run, two hits, no errors.

Phillies—Jones was called out on strikes. Hamner belted a triple, his long liner bouncing off the right-centre field wall. With a 3-2 count, Seminick drove a long foul deep into the upper left-field stands, then slapped a two-bouncer to Coleman just beyond the infield grass. Hamner held third as Coleman threw out Seminick. Gollat sent an easy fly to DiMaggio. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning

YANKEES—Berra went down swinging. Gollat gathered in DiMaggio's short fly. Mize looped a lazy single into right field. Ashburn gathered in Brown's high fly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Phillies—Roberts struck out. Waitkus lined a double barely inside the foul line in the right field corner. Ashburn fouled out to Berra. Sisler went out on a weak roller to Coleman. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning

Yankees—Bauer popped to Hamner. Coleman was credited with a two-bagger when his drive into centrefield took a bad bounce which Ashburn was barely able to knock down. Reynolds walked on a 3-2 pitch. Woodling fouled to Sisler. Rizzuto lined to Ennis. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Phillies—Ennis struck out. Jones raised a high pop up to Gollat. Hamner walked on four pitches and stole second. Seminick went out swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning

YANKEES—Berra popped to Hamner. DiMaggio sent a towering pop up to Jones behind the infield grass. Mize went down swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Phillies—Gollat singled between first and second. Coleman's off-balance throw sailed over Mize's head but Berra's alert backing stopped Gollat from advancing. Roberts attempted to sacrifice but popped to Reynolds. Waitkus' sharp grounder bounced over Coleman's head for a single, Gollat going to third. Ashburn flied to Woodling. Gollat scoring after the catch. It was the Phillies first run of the series. Sisler fouled to Mize. One run, two hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning

YANKEES—Fine fielding by Ashburn held Brown's drive to a single. Bauer fouled to Waitkus. Coleman popped to Waitkus. Reynolds struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Phillies—DiMaggio made a spectacular running catch of Ennis' towering smash to the right centrefield wall, 400 feet away. Jones lined into Rizzuto's glove. Coleman hauled in Hamner's low looper. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning

YANKEES—Woodling skied to Sisler. Rizzuto walked on a 3-2 pitch. Berra flied to Ashburn. DiMaggio fouled to Waitkus. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Phillies—Seminick walked on four pitches. Ralph Caballero went in to run for Seminick. Gollat flied to Woodling. Roberts laid down a sacrifice bunt, and went out Reynolds to Coleman. Waitkus sent a long liner to DiMaggio. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning

YANKEES—Ken Silvestri went in to catch for the Phils. Mize fouled to Waitkus. Brown sliced a single to left. Bauer hit a ground single to left. Hopp went in to run for Brown. Hamner grabbed Coleman's slow grounder and threw him out at first, both runners advancing. Reynolds looked at a third strike. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Phillies—Billy Johnson went in to play third and Hopp took over first for the Yankees. Ashburn dropped a bunt toward third and never even drew a throw to be credited with a single. Reynolds scooped up Sisler's intended sacrifice bunt and threw to Rizzuto, forcing Ashburn at second. Ennis drove a sizzling grounder at Johnson who started a double play. He threw to Coleman forcing Sisler at second and Coleman relayed to Hopp to double up Ennis. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning

YANKEES—Gollat scooped up Woodling's grounder and threw him out. Rizzuto hit a wicked bouncer to Gollat who made a nice stop and threw him out. Berra fouled to Jones. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Phillies—Jones flied to Bauer. Hamner hit a doubt over Coleman's head into right field.

BLUE METEOR SEEN OVER U.S.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—A brilliant, blue meteor flashed westward across the early-evening sky in the south and midwest states Wednesday night, exploded over Kentucky and vanished. All witnesses agreed on its unusual size and blue color, and most reported it had a flaming tail.

Dick Whitman, a lefthand hitter, went in for Silvestri and was purposely passed. Gollat grounded into a double play, Rizzuto to Coleman to Hopp. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Tenth Inning

YANKEES—Stan Lopata went in to catch for the Phils. DiMaggio hit a home run into the upper left field stands. Johnson struck out. Sisler came in to catch Hopp's fly. Bauer went out, Hamner to Waitkus. One run, one hit, no errors.

Phillies—Jack Mayo went in to hit for Roberts. Mayo walked on five pitches. Waitkus laid down a sacrifice bunt and was out, Johnson to Coleman. Ashburn nubbled a short foul to Hopp. Sisler swung at two consecutive strikes on two consecutive pitches and was called out as he made a half swing. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Call Halt To London Strike Of Gasworkers

LONDON (CP)—London's striking gas workers tonight decided to go back to work Monday and end a wildcat stoppage which has cut off supplies to many areas for the last 21 days.

The decision was taken at a mass meeting of about 1,400 striking maintenance workers after 10 of their leaders had been given one-month jail sentences. Another 1,244 soldiers and sailors stood by for duty in 15 other plants if needed.

The strike, involving 1,400 men, ended its third week today. Gas supplies to 2,000,000 residents of North London have been cut off or seriously depleted by the walkout.

B.C. May Get Cheaper Gas

British Columbians can expect reduction in gasoline prices soon as a result in rise in the value of Canadian dollar, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, Coal and Petroleum Control Commissioner, said Wednesday.

Amount of the reduction would depend on where the dollar levelled off in the free market.

Dr. Carrothers said that when the dollar was devalued 10 per cent the oil companies were allowed a 1½-cent increase in the fixed price of gas to compensate for the extra cost of importing their products from the U.S.

With the dollar now rising in relation to the U.S. dollar, the public would be given the benefit of the swing the other way.

Legion Chairman Dies In 70th Year

WINNIPEG (CP)—Arthur Ernest Moore, Dominion chairman of the Canadian Legion, died Wednesday at Deer Lodge Military Hospital, aged 69. The funeral will be held Saturday morning.

Mr. Moore's chairmanship of the Legion was continuous from 1925 when the veterans' organization was formed. He served as a boy in the Royal Navy and was a sergeant in the 44th Canadian Infantry Battalion during the First World War.

Storm Whips Past Nova Scotia Coast
HALIFAX (CP)—A tropical hurricane whipped past Nova Scotia today after changing its course. It had been expected that the storm, with winds up to 90 miles an hour, would rake the Nova Scotia coast.

However, winds of 70 miles an hour in gusts were forecast for southern Newfoundland as the blow swept northeastward. Forecasters said Wednesday night that if the storm should continue in the path it was taking at that time, it would hit Nova Scotia about noon today.

New Y.M.C.A. Chief

TORONTO (CP)—John M. Pritchard of Montreal has been appointed president of the National Council of Young Men's Christian Associations of Canada. It was announced today.

TRAIN'S TOTAL GROWS BY ONE

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—A seven-pound, 14-ounce baby boy was born to a woman passenger in a Burlington train coach as it pulled into Omaha Wednesday. The mother said she had ridden the train about 300 miles, had no idea anything was about to happen, and "then there it was."

Experience With Screwdriver

Looks impossible, but he did it. Barnard Mack, 2½ years old, of Dalton, Mass., is pictured in Pittsfield General Hospital, holding the five-and-a-half-inch screwdriver surgeons removed from his stomach. They believe the boy swallowed it more than a month ago.

21 Lost As Mine Sinks U.S. Sweeper Off Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Navy announced today the minesweeper Magpie has been sunk by a floating mine near North Korea. Twenty-one men are missing.

It was the third U.S. ship to hit a mine in Korean waters. Two destroyers—the Brush and the Mansfield—were damaged by earlier collisions with mines and 11 men on the Brush were lost. The Magpie hit a mine Sunday near the city of Ch'uk-san-Dong.

Twelve survivors were picked up by a sister ship, the minesweeper Merganser, and carried to Pusan, Korea.

The 136-foot wooden hulled Magpie struck the mine on her starboard side and sank about two miles off shore.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, navy chief of operations, told a congressional committee last Monday that a "great many" Russian-made floating mines had been found in Korean waters. He said they had been "recently laid and not long out of the storehouse."

SEVEN INJURED

Seven crew members were injured in a mine explosion that damaged the destroyer Mansfield last Saturday.

Eleven were killed, 10 injured and three missing in a similar blast that tore a hole in the bottom of the destroyer Brush three days earlier.

Sherman called the mines illegal. He explained the Hague Convention—an international agreement signed at The Hague—outlawed floating mines because they might drift into the ships of neutral countries. Sherman said the mines apparently had been cast adrift by the North Koreans.

Stiff Prison Terms Given Drug Vendors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two narcotics trade "pushers," who made the mistake of selling their illicit goods to R.C.M.P. undercover operatives, Wednesday were sentenced to stiff penitentiary terms.

Ten other persons facing similar charges were given adjournments of a week.

Robert Singleton, 33, and Derald Fanning, 33, both of no fixed address, were among the 20 persons arrested last week in the greatest narcotics crackdown in Canadian history.

Singleton drew five years for selling. Fanning was given three years for selling plus three years concurrent for possession of narcotics.

BEVIN WINS APPROVAL

British Foreign Policy Critics Lose Heavy Vote

MARGATE, Eng. (Reuter)—Within a few hours of returning from New York, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin today routed critics of his foreign policy at the Labor Party convention here, with a 6-to-1 vote.

The critics sponsored a resolution urging the government to call a five-power conference, to make renewed efforts for friendly relations with Russia, to outlaw the atom bomb, and to end dollar dependence by 1952.

After Bevin had defended his policy in a speech lasting more than an hour, the convention rejected the rebel resolution by 4,861,000 votes to 881,000.

Bevin also told delegates he wanted to nail the lie that the United States would ever be aggressors.

The lie was "sent out by Russia to try to blind the people of the world, and unfortunately a lot of weak-minded people keep repeating it," Bevin told the annual convention of the British Labor Party.

"I do not believe the United States will ever be aggressors. There is no sign of it," Bevin, cheered loudly, said: "I have tried ever since I took office to be friends with Russia."

"There is no one who has stood at this rostrum who would stand more insults, more abuse—who has put up with more than I have from Molotov and Vishinsky."

"I have looked beyond Molotov and Vishinsky and have looked for peace and I will carry on, whatever they said."

"I have discussed these problems with Joseph Stalin at Moscow. I offered on behalf of the government a 50-year treaty of peace. I asked why a little country like Turkey should for five years be in a war of nerves."

"In Berlin we were very near to war. Without one word to us, 2,500,000 people were suddenly cut off from food."

"We saw it through. That was aggression."

The Foreign Secretary said that in Korea the Security Council did the only thing they could do—"they resisted."

Train Crashes Car At Mile A Minute

No Deaths, 45 Hurt, When Flier Hits Derailed Oil Tanker In Pennsylvania

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A New York Central Railroad flier, clipping along at better than a mile a minute, smashed into a derailed oil-tank car early today, setting off an explosion which rocked midtown Erie.

Almost miraculously, no one was killed.

Between 40 and 50 were injured, but no one was burned, although flames from the burning tanker leaped high into the air and lapped at some of the cars on the palatial westbound New England States Express.

The engineer of the Boston-to-Chicago Express had no chance to keep his train from hitting the tank car. It was hurled into the express' path from a freight train travelling eastbound on a parallel track. Both he and his fireman escaped injury.

Only one of the 14 cars on the streamliner caught fire. It was the dormitory car for dining car employees. More than 10 occupants scrambled to safety through a lone exit which remained open. One unidentified waiter said:

"Everyone just scrambled around. We had been sleeping. Some of us got two left shoes, some got one shoe and some got none. But we all got out of there in a hurry."

Nearly 50 firemen, aided by as many police, were at the scene, only five blocks from midtown Erie, within minutes after the 1.15 a.m. E.S.T. crash. They kept the fire from engulfing the train and aided in rescuing passengers.

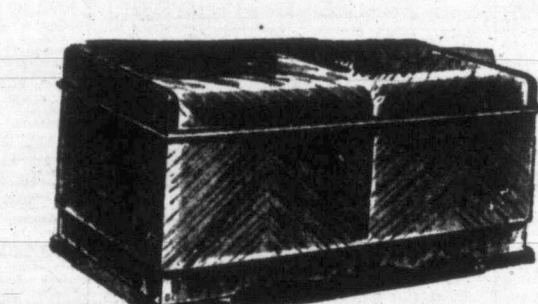

Nearly 50 passengers were trapped in the only car which overturned.

Twelve of the injured passengers were admitted to hospital, but are not in critical condition.

Going Up And Up

FROM MONTH TO MONTH CANADIANS are finding it increasingly difficult to make ends meet—that is, in family budget terms. We were told in a dispatch from Ottawa yesterday that the index, based on the calculation that 1933-1939 prices equalled 100, had climbed from 168.5 to 169.0 in August. Housewives require no particular economic tutelage to understand this. Their main job these days is to try to stretch their housekeeping allowance, not only to make ends meet, but to see that there is meat at least at one end.

What to do about this steady increase in the cost of living is a difficult problem. This newspaper argued some time ago that some form of control might be necessary if matters in the commodity field got out of hand. Well, rents, food and furniture apparently have become the bad boys. They are responsible for the rise in the economic barometer during the last month of the official tabulation. Take meat, for instance, those nice joints we used to be able to buy for a dollar are now two-dollar tid-bits—far beyond the purse of so many.

Where is all this going to end? What is the cause of much of it? It will end in people with limited incomes doing without many of the commodities they used to buy, or turning to such substitutes as are calculated to give them the requisite number of calories to keep them in good health. (This, of course, has no relationship to the price of furniture or the cost of housing.) The cause of much of the rise, however, is the continuing demand for ever higher wages.

That is a major consideration which the public of this country should bear in mind all the time.

Another Milestone For Schools

GREATER VICTORIA MARKED ANOTHER milestone in provision of school accommodation yesterday with the opening of the S. J. Willis Junior High School. From all accounts the building embodies all the improvements that can be incorporated in present-day construction. Board officials, teaching staff and student body appear unanimous in their praise of the structure.

Such approval is gratifying to the people of this community. They have assumed a considerable tax burden to advance the construction program required to meet immediate and future needs.

Overcrowding is still far from eliminated by the addition of the S. J. Willis unit. Many schools are still operating under conditions that are far from ideal. Many classes are too large for efficiency. Many of the older institutions lack facilities required by modern education. Some of those problems, however, will be overcome as other buildings are constructed.

Greater Victoria still has a long way to go to catch up on its educational plant needs, but the new junior high which opened this week indicates the manner in which the board intends to overcome existing deficiencies. That is an encouraging sign to a tax-paying public which has been generous in the extreme in answering the calls of educational authorities.

Out Of The Mouths Of Babes!

WE WERE TOLD IN A DISPATCH from Kelowna the other day that Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, Progressive Conservative Coalition member of the Legislature for South Okanagan, has one major objective in his political career. This is how he explained it:

"The discord that presently exists between the federal and provincial groups in B.C. does not exist in any other province, and I realize that it is essential that there be the closest co-operation, confidence and goodwill between all elements of our party."

Gobbledygook rhetoric sounds well. But what Mr. Bennett does not seem to realize is that he, a merchant from Kelowna—he is in business, as is Mr. Anscomb, whom he hopes to dethrone as the leader of the provincial Progressive Conservative Party—is putting personal ambition before the welfare of the province which has been good to him.

We know Mr. Bennett well. He came into this office not many years ago and urged formation of an extra "Coalition Party." Our reply was something to this effect: The multiplicity of parties in France, Italy, and Germany—the background of political log-rolling of the most sinister kind—furnished the dried-out kindling into which Adolf Hitler threw his lighted match on that tragic day of September, 1939.

Why, we ask, does not Mr. Bennett stop rocking the political boat in British Columbia? However, that question undoubtedly will be asked—and answered—by the men and women of the Progressive Conservative Party who will be meeting in convention in Vancouver this week-end.

'If Music Be The Food Of Love...'

AN ELEGANT DISSONANCE disrupts the musical world of Vancouver today. Having acquired an astonishing deficit with one symphony orchestra, they have now decided to try two, the second under the baton of Jacques Singer, the maestro who refused to stay fired. Newspapers have joined the fray and are injecting a few discordant notes themselves; all is cacophony and the day is surely not too distant when the hapless Vancouverite will have symphony running from his ears, or vice versa.

Meanwhile venerable, respectable, reliable little old Victoria goes its harmonious way with one Symphony, which seems to be getting better with each performance. This was amply demonstrated at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night, when a capacity audience welcomed back Hans Gruber and Gertrude Huntly Green in an enchanting premiere to the 10th anniversary season. Should, of course, savage Vancouver breathe need soothing, we will be happy to set aside a small block of seats so that they may enjoy a calm musical soiree in the capital city. Next concert: October 30.

Biography Of President Truman Sheds New Light On Early Life

By DOUGLAS LARSEN, from Washington

IN HIS new book, "The Man From Independence," Jonathan Daniels has gotten himself a real White House news scoop.

It's a biography of the President, obviously written with Harry Truman's full co-operation. In it the President has permitted himself to be quoted with amazing frankness on various issues and personalities. For instance, on Jimmy Byrnes the book says:

"He faltered miserably as Secretary of State, Truman said, and ran out on me when the going was very rough and when I needed him worst. His 'bad heart' has now left him when he has found that he made a bad guess. So he and old Baruch have joined the McCormicks, Hearsts and Scripps-Howards to discredit me. They will not succeed."

NOW MADE PUBLIC

There's practically a whole chapter on the President's relations with Byrnes, with information which has never before been made public.

Jonathan Daniels is editor of the Raleigh, N.C., News and Observer. His father, Josephus Daniels, was a prominent official in the administrations of Presidents Cleveland, Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt. Jonathan was press secretary for F. D. R. and has worked on President Truman's staff.

It'll no doubt be said that the author has paid off in kind words about the President, for Mr. Truman's frankness and time. Nevertheless, it's an extremely interesting book which even the most casual observer of national affairs will appreciate. If you're a loyal Democrat Daniels' analysis of the President's place in American history will please and entertain you. If you're a staunch Republican the book'll make you mad—but it will keep you interested.

The book certainly gives those in Washington who have a sort of superficial association with the President a better insight into his real personality. The fresh job of research that Daniels has done on the President's youth and early manhood reveals him as basically a sort of shy, sensitive individual. The wrong tradition in Washington is that he was an ambitious, successful extroverted politician who won the big cigar by pure luck.

ATHLETIC GIRL

There's a paragraph about Mrs. Truman which is amusing:

"If Harry was an almost womanish little boy, Bess Wallace was a tomboy who grew into an athletic girl. One of her schoolmates has unkindly remembered that she 'was the first girl I ever knew who could whistle through her teeth.' She could beat all the boys at mummy-peg. With his eyes, Harry could not hope to join her at tennis. (There is a story in Independence that at least one of her other beaux lost out because, though not as good a player as Bess, he always shouted to her that he would get the ball when they were playing doubles together.)"

It is this kind of detail, on the early life of the President, that makes the book important historically. As it gets closer to the present-day Truman it naturally loses its perspective on the man. But it is interesting to the last page.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

STRUCK by the fact that "waistcoat" is not pronounced as spelt, the clothing trade has suddenly begun to spell the darn thing "weskit". This is probably just an effort to be cute, and we should ignore them lest we only make them worse. But why pick on "weskit" alone? Why can't we have a ty or tigh around the koir of our shirt? We could have shoos and jakkits and pents (or trousers, and undr-ways and gluzv and oovkoots and spazts and heaven knows what—I particularly want a hacht on my head. Of course we've had sox for a long time, though these sox have clocks and not clox on them. Clothes themselves could be spelt "elose," which is an acceptable pronunciation according to Swift, Pope, Donne, and many dictionaries.

AUTUMN TINTS

I HAD always thought of October as a month of food, fog, and pheasants, not to mention other autumnal phenomena. But I was wrong. Last night a formal announcement advised me that October is National Child Foot Health Month. Not the pitter of leaves or the patter of rain, but the pitter of little feet. Plus, perhaps, the patter of little sales-talk. So just laugh that off, my national child, and here's your very good foot health.

SOMETHING MISSING

WHEN the New York Yankees won the American League pennant last week, the team had its picture taken en masse. There is something very striking about a picture which includes every member of a nine-man team. This picture contained 36 men. Poor as I am at figures, I saw at a glance there was something wrong here. I then realized what it was; Vic Raschi was absent when the picture was taken, so there should really have been 37 men. Or, if you admire Raschi's work as much as I do, 100 men.

WORK-BOAT

I SEE that a "38-foot bear-hunting yacht" was burnt in Alaska. That's too bad. Bear-hunting yachts are lovely craft, and all too rare these days. I never owned one myself, though of course I have frequently borrowed one from the neighbors when the occasion arose. I did have a little fox-hunting yacht once, and she was a terrific jumper for her size. My uncle had a trap-shooting yacht by the name of "Skeet." I knew a trapper who had a mink-trapping yacht. He used to put roller-skates under it any time he came across a good smooth pavement out in the forest, which wasn't often in those days though the Government is planning to pave most forests soon to attract tourists.

A CABINET MATTER

A CANADIAN whisky advertises in the States that it is "distilled, aged and blended under the supervision of the Canadian Government." And so of course it must be... all distilling in Canada is very much supervised and no distillery could avoid a little army of inspectors even if it wanted to. But the advertisement somehow conjures up a picture (in one mind at least) of a jovial cabinet taking this particular whisky under its special care.

"How's that hooch coming along?" says the Minister of Fun and Games as he sits down at a cabinet meeting. "I don't know, I haven't tasted it since this morning," says the Minister of Love, Life, and Laughter. "Support we all teeter down to the basement and have another look at it. We could continue the meeting down there. Is our rumpus room fixed up yet? I hear there's an official rumpus coming up." "Heavens, what kind of rumpus?" says the Minister of Death and Taxes, turning slightly pale beneath his red nose. "Oh, nothing much," says the M. of L.L. & L., "just some guy called Fawkes who claims our barrels in the cellar are really full of gunpowder instead of licker. I told him he was free to sample it... under supervision, naturally."

AUTOMATIC

A YOUNG Wolf Cub, aged nine, told me "When in difficulty, a Scout will whistle." That's splendid. Do you do that?" I asked him. "Well, no," he said, "I swear instead." "Most blokes do," I said, "but all the same, you really shouldn't." "I know, I know," he said, "but it just seems to pop out of my mouth."

I'D NEVER HAVE GUESSED IT

A MOTORCAR company tells me "Chances are you are closer to being a two-car family than you think. The car you now own may well provide the down payment on both of them." Assuming for the moment that I am a family and not a man, I must still reject this subversive stuff. Chances are I am closer to bankruptcy than they think. And anyhow, who wants to talk about chances in matters involving large sums? What we want is certainties... including social security, of course. This just seems to be a system of doubling your bets... known in Monte Carlo as a martingale. If you lose money on one car, double your bet next time; make it two cars; who knows? you might win. Chances are you might not, too, but you can always make it four cars next time, using the two (if you still have them) as a down payment.

NO WOOL LIKE OLD WOOL

HEY diddle diddle, with wool such a riddle. The sheep jumped over the fold. The Aussies laughed to see such prices. And the rest of the world caught cold.

Still The Big Question

BIG THREE SHOE STORE

As Our Readers See It

CHEERFUL PICTURE

Once in a while a picture in the newspaper gives readers a distinct lift. I think that of young Grant Jones and his budgie bird in Tuesday's Times did just that. As one Times customer, I'd like to thank the paper for printing the happy picture and the cameraman for taking it. A SUBSCRIBER.

NEEDS STRAIGHTENING OUT

It is a pity that one small moron should have spent Monday evening stealing money from a doorstep when so many hundreds of others were giving their time to the good work of collecting it for the Community Chest. One hopes that the youth responsible will be suitably dealt with when caught. But whatever punishment is given him, it should be impressed on him that he was the only person in a city of 100,000 who was low enough to steal from charity. I can imagine the feelings of his parents at having so distinguished a son. READER.

MAN'S HUMANITY TO MAN

I trust that you can spare me a small space in your editorial columns to pay a tribute to the people of Victoria. Also to the two fine men, the chairmen of the Community Chest drive, namely Art Roberts and John MacCormac.

As a very interested citizen in the outcome of the drive may I also thank the staff and management of Radio Station CKDA, CJVI, the T. Eaton Co., The Hudson's Bay Co., the taxi firms, the team captains and their volunteer staffs, the Prince Robert House Headquarters staff for their fine co-operation and all out effort in this, our hour of need.

I am sure that the success of this drive did much to revive "Man's Humanity to Man."

In closing may I just say, well done Victoria.

STEWART A. BITTANCOURT.

THANKS ALL ROUND

As president of the Victoria Y's Men's Club, responsible for the co-ordination of the Y.M.C.A. canvassing effort for the Community Chest, I wish on behalf of the club to thank all canvassers working so diligently in the Fairfield residential district. R.S. Y's Men's Club members, their wives, Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club members, senior leaders of the "Y" boys' department, H.Y. Girls, Y.M.C.A. staff members and their friends joined in a co-operative effort from 6.30 to nearly midnight which resulted in a collection of over $3,275.

As a canvasser and team captain I wish to state that the thanks of all of us goes to the men and women organizing the campaign from the outset. The spirit of co-operation by donors and the feeling of accomplishment by canvassers, was made possible by the excellent public relations effort of the Community Chest committee, the radio stations and newspapers.

L. ROY BRAIN,
President Y's Men's Club of Victoria.

Missing Out On The Victory?

By JOSEPH ALSOP, from Tokyo

WHATEVER may be the final outcome, the delay in deciding what to do with the Korean victory has already revealed a really shocking breakdown in American policy making. As long as a week ago, the main North Korean armies were visibly disintegrating. Seoul fell on Wednesday; the last pockets of resistance were eliminated Thursday, and the liberation of the city was pompously celebrated on Friday.

On Sunday General MacArthur published his surrender demand. And as this is written, the South Koreans have crossed the 38th Parallel in force, yet no one will admit they have been ordered to do so by the United Nations Supreme Commander.

One of the first rules of war is that any victory must be relentlessly followed up, with all possible speed and strength, in order to prevent the enemy from recovering his balance. A more flagrant violation of this simple rule than the events of the past week, would be hard to imagine.

We should have been after the enemy like a hungry lynx. Instead we have behaved more like a cat in a bed of catnip. And the delay and indecision about crossing the 38th Parallel have created many needless dangers.

NO EXCUSE

Moreover, there is no excusing this indecision and delay on the ground that the Korean victory came unexpectedly. The plans for the Inchon landing were completed and fully communicated to the Joint Chief of Staff more than a month ago. The central principle was that the immensely risky landing operation, if successful, would immediately produce the results which we now see.

Unless the U.S. State and Defence department policy makers simply regarded the Inchon project as one of General MacArthur's minor eccentricities, they must have realized more than a month ago that the great issue of the 38th Parallel would probably confront them at about this time. MacArthur ought to have been instructed about the Parallel even before the Inchon D-day.

It is impossible to excuse a victorious army having to wait for many days to learn what to do with its victory.

DANGEROUS POLICY

It is hard not to suspect that this is another evidence of the Washington habit of putting off hard decisions, of waiting till the last minute to face unpleasant facts, of making policy by guess and by God. Moreover, even after Korea has been tidied up, one way or another, this business of making policy by guess and by God will still be, incredibly dangerous. No one at home seems to grasp the extraordinary peril of the Far Eastern situation, of which Korea is only a part.

All these facts, plus the desperate French attack on the Communist stronghold, which has just been mounted, indicate the probability that the Korean crisis is going to be succeeded by an Indo-Chinese crisis.

It may well be that the line in Indo-China will prove impossible to hold, unless divisions as well as weapons are sent there. And there can be no doubt whatever that the loss of Indo-China would be more disastrous, by every possible test, than the sacrifice of Korea. In these circumstances, it is downright spine-chilling to realize that our policy makers have not even been able to make up their minds soon enough, to get the full benefit of a Korean victory they must at least have hoped for.

ROME—It is believed 3,000,000 of the faith will make the pilgrimage to Rome this Holy Year to see the Pope was what is called a public audience, held twice a week. It will be apparent that I am not a Roman Catholic for in trying to describe the impressive scene, I shall doubtless use incorrect terms. The inaccuracy shall not reflect disrespect. It was a personally moving sight, and an inspiring testimony of faith.

The audience was timed for 6, but by 4.45 all roads already had led to St. Peter's and the streets and colonnade and square were filled with people.

For miles around, buses were parked side by side. Old and young, the pilgrims moved forward; white and colored; rich and poor. Hawkers sold postcards and religious articles; police of church, city and state played at being shepherds, but not too pushingly.

Going into the cathedral the crowds were quiet, seemingly rapt in anticipation of the event itself or devotion to the beliefs for which it stands.

GREAT THRONG

But if it seemed crowded outside, the inside of that huge building was jammed to the point of suffocation. There seemed to be no seats or benches; we all stood tight together in somewhat intimate communion.

As the hour drew closer there were things happening. Chords sang, the people sang, a priest said prayers. We were asked to keep silent when the Pope came. We were told this in Italian, French, Spanish, English and German.

From the temporary stands about the interior of the cathedral people had to depart because of exhaustion. Children grew fatigued and cried; middle-aged became just a little bored, and fixed their attention on the swords and plumes of the orange and black uniforms of the Papal Guard.

Suddenly I realized the presiding priest (still before the Pope's arrival) was saying the Lord's Prayer in English. English voices could be heard all over the church. Then there were prayers or hymns in all the languages.

ASSEMBLED SINGING

About five minutes to six, came the assembled singing of the Credo. It was a greatly moving minute or two, and men and women cried. The volume of song was the greatest I have ever heard, but the cathedral could hold it all and still with calm and dignity. It was a scene of vast and deep worship.

Suddenly a hundred chandeliers hanging a hundred feet or more turned a brilliant light on throng and building alike. The glories of the architecture and statuary stood out around and overhead, and the little girls with pink ribbons around their pig-tails looked up with awe, as did the mothers all in black.

The Pope was coming, being carried forward up the great central aisle. We could all see him with ease. His chair was high over the head of the tallest guard.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

many has written a love poem to a machine. Russians have been turning out stuff for some time about the beauty of the moonlight on the gas works—the haunting loveliness of the municipal gravel crusher, the romance of cylinder grinding and the tender emotions stirred by semi-reciprocating internal combustion engines. These are topics that mark the emancipation of mankind, or something. They prove that human beings are at last free from the bourgeois annoyance of admiring curving lips, soft cheeks, white throats and gleaming hair. Even that old Russian favorite, 'Dark Eyes,' lost out in competition with praise of sump pumps and toggle switches. Going down!

"But no one," said the Elevator Man, "had gone quite so far as to make love to a machine. Now friendship has ripened into something more, as it was bound to. The 18-year-old girl has shyly confessed her secret, and here it is:

"I love you because you are so beautiful. You shine in the sun and are so strong. You give me new courage when I am disheartened. You, my friend, The Machine."

"I don't know how the machine reacted to that, but it's probably spinning yet. Going down!"

"There'll be great days, and nights, ahead," said the Elevator Man, "for the lads and lasses of the future. Strolling down Lovers' Lane with a pretty cylinder head nestled on your shoulder, a radial arm around your waist or a wrist-pin resting gently in your hand as you gaze into a pair of blue eye-bolts, what a life it'll be—as long as there's no fifth wheel to spoil the party."

Freed N. Koreans Tell Of Iron Rule By Reds

Opposition Association Formed At Yangyang But Leader Shot, Remainder Put In Prison

By WILLIAM JORDEN

YANGYANG, Korea (AP)—North Koreans in this first Asian Iron Curtain city to be liberated say their Korean Communist bosses were worse than the Japanese.

The Japanese rulers went out at the end of World War II. Then came the Korean Communist rulers to this town of 10,000 just north of the 38th parallel.

These people who lived five years under the Communists don't easily forget their fear. But Chai Yong-il and the others seem to be doing their best to overcome it.

Votes $300 For Community Chest

The spirit of Greater Victoria's tremendous Community Chest effort was shown by Oak Bay Council Wednesday night.

Council approved a recommendation of its finance committee that $300 be given to the chest.

Previously, it had been understood $250—the same amount as was given last year—would be donated. The finance group decided to increase that sum at a gathering prior to the regular meeting.

Chai told about life behind the Iron Curtain as we sat on the floor of his eight-by-eight-foot room on a Yangyang side street.

He was in Japan when the war ended. The smugglers who brought him and his family back landed in North Korea. The Communists would not let them go into South Korea because Chai's wife was a northerner.

Chai went to work cooking for the Yangyang Communist Party headquarters.

Chai said the Reds held regular elections. Candidates were handpicked by the Communist Korean Labor Party.

Opposition showed up only once. The Northwest Young Men's Association was formed to oppose Red rule. Chai said the leader was shot and the rest jailed. That ended resistance.

"I hated the Communists," said Chai's grim-faced landlady, looking in the door. "We had no freedom."

SEATTLE (AP)—A "lifer" in the state penitentiary at Walla Walla has inherited a $17,000 estate.

Presiding judge Donald A. McDonald signed an order Wednesday directing the prison superintendent to permit William Jennings Cooper, 50, to be brought here under guard for three days to arrange affairs of the estate.

Cooper was left the estate by Helen Williams, a long-time friend who died Thursday.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Finance Department Wednesday night announced that no permits are required to take $50 or less in U.S. currency out of Canada.

Red Cross To Hold Disaster Exercise Here

The Canadian Red Cross Society will stage a "disaster exercise" for Victoria next Wednesday at 2, at the City Hall council chamber, it is announced by Red Cross officials. The exercise will be known as "Operation Mercy."

Mayor Percy George is co-operating with the Red Cross. He has placed the council chamber at the disposal of the disaster service committee of the Victoria city and district branch of the mercy organization.

Officials of the national and provincial headquarters of the society will attend the exercise. A narrative of a possible disaster will be presented. Sub-committee heads will outline actions planned to meet phases of the "disaster."

Following the exercise, a dinner meeting will be held at the Empress Hotel. Dr. Harvey Doney, national head of the Canadian Red Cross Society Disaster Service, will review the exercise.

The apparent lower quality of present-day nylon stockings is due to the fact that nearly half the nylons sold today are of 15 denier—twice as sheer as the sheerest available in early post-war days.

As previously announced, the limitation on pleasure travel to the United States is no longer limited to $150 in a 12-month period.

However, a form "H" travel permit must still be used if a traveler wants more than $50 in U.S. funds or more than a total of $100 in both U.S. and Canadian funds.

"Banks and other agents of the foreign exchange control board will, however, be authorized to approve form "H" permits for amounts up to $500 per trip for business travel and up to a total of $500 during the calendar year for travel and other purposes," the announcement said.

There is no change in the regulation prohibiting the mailing of money from the country without a permit. As before, such funds must be mailed through the banks.

Found Guilty On Rape Charge

An Assize Court jury Wednesday found Patrick R. Mullen, 24, guilty of the rape of a 15-year-old Mount Newton High School girl. The jury also found Mullen guilty on a second charge of having had unlawful and carnal knowledge of a girl under 16 and over 14.

The jury was out for nearly two hours before returning with a verdict.

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson remanded sentence until the end of the Assizes.

Council Orders Curbing By-law

A by-law will be drafted in Oak Bay for construction of a 23-foot pavement with concrete curbs on Monterey Avenue from Central Avenue to Beach Drive. Drawing up of the by-law was approved by the municipal council Wednesday night following receipt of a petition from residents of the area. The project will be handled as a local improvement.

Boys Of 10 Go Forward With South Korean Army

Help Carry Equipment While Many Weary Soldiers Limp North Past 38th Parallel

By HAL BOYLE

IN NORTH KOREA (AP)—Here is what it is like above the 38th Parallel in North Korea:

An exhausted South Korean soldier sleeps in a muddy ditch, his unheeding head pillowed in the yellow dust of the roadway.

Two lines of bone-weary South Korean soldiers limp past over the stones and ruts of the road they have trudged along for more than a fortnight from deep in South Korea.

The stones have torn to tatters the rubber-soled shoes of some soldiers, and they have replaced them with peasant slippers of rice straw.

But they manage a sweat-stained grin as they pass. A battered truck wheezes by—so decrepit it seems held together only by the morale of the men in it. But troops jammed in it are singing, shouting and waving small black-and-white flags of the Korean Republic.

The marching troops look at the riders enviously, then turn their heads to the yellow road and break into the shuffling trot typical of their infantry.

Marching with them and shouldering part of their equipment are 20 or more boys less than 10 years old. They are camp followers attracted by the joy of going with the winning army—and getting a bowl of free rice.

Behind the column slowly stumbles a line of civilian laborers. Each is burdened with a wooden pack to which is tied a fresh-cut log almost as wide as the road and more than six inches thick. The logs are used to bridge streams. They appear heavy enough to break the back of a longshoreman, but the Korean workers apparently can tote them for miles.

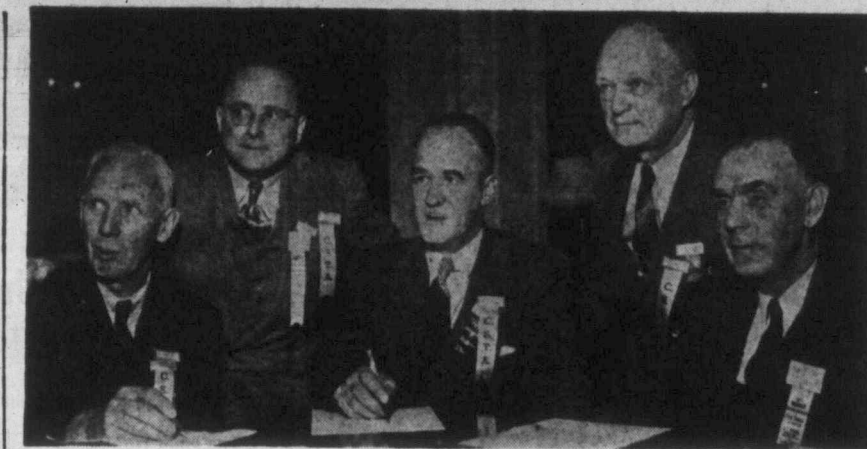

And behind them for hours come soldier stragglers—men too worn out to keep the killing pace, middle-aged men limping painfully, young wounded men with blood-stained bandages on cheeks, arms and legs.

Some distance back is a large sign lettered in a language the South Korean soldier doesn't understand. The language is English and the sign says:

"You are crossing the 38th Parallel. Courtesy of the third Republic of Korea, division. We were first."

Grape-Nuts Flakes are different, too . . . they're Sugarcoated for extra-delicious flavor and extra-quick energy!

School Trustees Gather For Two Conventions

Not one, but two conventions for school trustees are under way in Victoria at present. Two bodies meeting are Canadian School Trustees' Association and B.C. School Trustees' Association. Attending meeting of national organization, are, from left: H. E. Spencer, secretary, Comox; D. H. Montgomery, executive member, Halifax; J. V. Waddell, president, Montreal; A. G. Andrews, executive member, Edmonton, and John Barsby, past president, Nanaimo. Seven provinces are represented.

Victoria Draw To Teachers, Delegates Told

"Teaching is by far the largest of all professions," J. F. K. English, senior inspector of schools in Greater Victoria, told more than 300 convention delegates Wednesday afternoon.

Speaking before the 27th annual meeting of the Canadian Education Association, Mr. English said more persons were required for replacements than for new positions in the teaching field.

"Annual turnover in this province," he said, "is approximately 15 per cent. Teachers drop out for several reasons, chief of which are marriage, retirement, death or more interesting and remunerative occupations."

He said Victoria was more fortunate than most centres. "When teachers accept positions here they come to stay. The salaries, climate and amenities of life will always draw teachers to Victoria."

Ex-Civil Servant Demands Endorsed

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night endorsed demands of the B.C. Retired Civil Service Association for a cost-of-living bonus for all superannuated civil servants.

The association in its campaign for an increase, has asserted some retired civil servants do not receive as much monthly allowance as old age pensioners.

Improving Soil Good Garden Job For Fall

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Soil improvement, whether in garden or field, is very important, and the home gardener can accomplish much while the ground is free of crops.

The present soil may be too wet; too dry; too loose and sandy; too stiff and heavy. Any of these conditions can be improved. The first calls for better drainage which can be accomplished by deeper digging or may necessitate the laying of drain tile.

A dry soil needs a system of irrigation and the addition of humus. Loose, sandy soils require binding with humus or peat to add body and increase the water-holding capacity, and the same treatment will loosen stiff clay, permit the entry of air, and make conditions more congenial for plant growth.

Manure, of course, is valuable; not so much for the plant food it contains but for the organic matter it adds to the soil. The word manure originated from the French "maneuver," meaning to work by hand . . . cultivating and digging to improve the physical condition of the land. In this sense it was passed down through the generations, and a well manured soil was one which had been well worked and physically improved.

OTHER SOURCES

Now that barnyard manure is difficult to obtain and inconvenient to handle in residential sections, we have to turn to other sources for organic matter. Green crops, turned under and allowed to decompose in the soil, are the next best method. Vacant spaces can be sown with a crop which will use up the plant food and prevent its waste during winter, reduce the washing away of topsoil, and return the plant food to the soil, together with humus, when turned under next spring.

Leguminous crops (clover and vetch) add nitrogen to the soil; rye produces the greatest amount of green manure and may be mixed with vetch; deep rooting crops will open up heavy soils. Don't let your garden stand idle for the winter, but put it to work producing a crop which will improve it physically and nutritionally.

Old Boys Greet Upper Canada College Principal

Old Boys of Upper Canada College, Toronto, Ont., welcomed Rev. C. W. Sowby, M.A., principal of the college, at a meeting at the Union Club.

The occasion was believed unique in that it was the first time a principal of the college had been present at a meeting here.

R. W. Chard was elected secretary of the local branch of the U.C.C. Old Boys' Association.

Old Boys present were:—H. R. Beck, Mr. Justice Bird, R. W. Chard, E. K. De Beck, B. S. Darling, Maj.-Gen. H. F. Hertzberg, G. Kirkpatrick, J. W. Maltby, W. M. Paterson, W. A. Patterson, Lt.-Col. E. Fepler, H. Peters, K. L. Patton, P. C. Trump and W. P. Unsworth.

It was regretted that John B. Kay, of Victoria, the oldest-living Old Boy of the college, was unable to attend.

Plans are proceeding to have a banquet and dance held Nov. 17 to mark the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council. It was reported at the council's meeting Wednesday night.

COLEMAN'S COLUMN

By JIM COLEMAN

Percival Hicks is Vancouver's official ticket-vendor. If he had a hair on his head for each year that he has sold tickets for Vancouver's sporting events, he would be known as "Curly." In his time, Percy has dispensed ducats for boxing bouts, wrestling bouts, hockey and lacrosse games, six-day bicycle races, roller-skating derbies, circuses, fashion-shows, ballet festivals, symphony concerts, potlatches, clambakes, church bingos and Polish weddings. Percival has accepted his patron's money with the professionally lugubrious air of Charon accepting one-way fares across the River Styx.

COLEMAN

Mr. Hicks' methods of salesmanship are unique. He sits behind the ticket-wicket, in his little agency, gnawing mournfully on a cigar. He yields his tickets reluctantly, his manner suggesting that the purchaser should be able to put his money to some better use.

Nonetheless, due to his acknowledged probity, Hicks has been the confidant of every promoter or sporting character who has tarried in Vancouver. Percival has the salty sporting history of the city locked inside him but he yields information about as freely as a chartered bank yields samples of currency.

Chicago Produced Surprise

Recently, Hicks packed 14 extra boxes of cigars in the trunk of his car and embarked upon a holiday tour of America. In every city, he met characters who had contributed to Vancouver's early development. If Percy ever displayed any surprise, it was only when he stopped in Chicago and discovered that Paddy Sullivan is the proprietor of a pleasant underground bistro known as The Red Lion.

"I thought that he would have been dead long ago—murdered!" said Mr. Hicks, somewhat shaken by his discovery.

In his Vancouver days, Paddy was a cheerful, flannel-mouthed Irishman with an immensely perverted sense of humor. One of the numerous Americans who settled in Vancouver during the prohibition era, he made a noble attempt to assuage the thirst of his fellow-citizens and he operated a club where gentlemen might gratify their desire to play cards. It was in the field of creating human discord that Paddy really excelled, though.

One afternoon a prominent Vancouverite (whom we shall call Moriarty) sat down vehemently at Paddy's card table. Noticing that Moriarty was breathing heavily, Sullivan surmised correctly that Mr. and Mrs. Moriarty had been having one of their frequent marital battles.

Paddy slipped away and telephoned a transfer company. "This is Mr. Moriarty," he said. "Go to my house at 2357 Blank Street and tell my wife that I've sent for my clothes."

The transfer-man presented himself at the Moriarty residence and Mrs. Moriarty blew her roof when she heard his message. Indignantly, she threw her husband's belongings into a large trunk and told the world at large just what she thought of her spouse.

Acting on Sullivan's instructions, the transfer-man lugged the trunk into Sullivan's club and, without a word, deposited it beside Moriarty who was still brooding over the recent battle.

Recognizing the trunk suddenly, Moriarty leaped to his feet and rushed off to settle matters with a wife who had the temerity to throw his clothes out of his own house.

Tourist Proved Tough

One hot night, Paddy was looking down into Granville Street from the second-story widow of his club. It was long after midnight and a car, driven by an American tourist, pulled up at the curb. The tourist's elbow accidentally hit the horn which blared through the quiet night.

"Ha!" snorted Sullivan as the innocent tourist emerged from the car. "Just another of those damn loud-mouthed Americans. Can't arrive in town without making a lot of noise so people will know you're here. I have a good mind to come down and give you a good punch on the nose."

The American was inarticulate with righteous indignation. He spluttered and cursed and suggested that if Mr. Sullivan would come downstairs, he would be pleased to adjust Mr. Sullivan's face. "Stay right there, big boy," sneered Mr. Sullivan. "I'm coming right down and you're going to get the kind of licking that a blankety-blank loud-mouthed American deserves."

Sullivan disappeared from the window and summoned his faithful bouncer, named Joe. "I want some cigars, Joe," he said. "Rush down to the Orpheum Cafe next door and get me half-a-dozen. But, hurry!"

The ever-willing Joe sped down the stairs and opened the door into the street.

The seething American tourist hit poor Joe and destroyed him with a single punch.

Because Joe was a loyal seiteur, Paddy Sullivan never let him know just why he had been the victim of such a devastating and unexpected assault.

Oh, well,—Vancouver's loss was Chicago's gain!

Basketball Opens Oct. 16; Propose V.I. Loop

The Victoria and District Basketball League will open play at the Victoria High School gym October 16. It was decided at a meeting Wednesday night.

Despite the fact there are no senior A men's entries this year, members of the executive will investigate the possibility of a Vancouver Island league. Should plans be successful, an all-star club will represent the city in the proposed setup.

Hoping to build up league funds and increase attendances, directors decided to issue season tickets this year.

TOOBY PRESIDENT
Howard Tooby was elected president, succeeding Gordon Hartley. One of the youngest prexies in the history of the association, Tooby faces a difficult task in attempting to put the sport back on a paying basis here.

Brother J. B. O'Keefe of St. Louis College and Jimmy Chow of the Chinese Students' Club were named first and second vice-presidents, respectively.

Delegates failed to elect a secretary for the year. Tommy Carson announced his retirement from the position, and the executive was empowered to appoint a successor.

Lone member of last year's slate of officers to allow his name to stand for re-election was Bob Whyte. He was again named official registrar.

Oakland Within Sight Of Coast League Honors

Oakland was held to a 1 to 1 tie for 14 innings last night, then exploded seven runs on Sacramento in the 15th to whip the Pacific Coast all-enders 8 to 1 in the longest game of the season.

The Acorns climaxed a 13-hit attack with Lloyd Christopher's 14th homer of the year good for four runs. Their victory, while second-place San Diego was losing 4 to 2 at home to Hollywood, sent them into a five-game lead. Whatever hopes San Diego had of overcoming the Stars ended in the eighth inning when fog forced the game to end.

Portland Beavers bettered their fourth-place position by overcoming next-best San Francisco at the Seal hideout 4 to 3. Beavers, three games ahead of San Francisco, moved five games ahead of slipping Seattle when the Rainiers dropped a double-header to Los Angeles 9 to 8 and 4 to 3.

ROYALS BRINGING SOLID CLUB FOR SOCCER MATCH

Trev Harvey's league-leading New Westminster Royals supply the opposition to Victoria United in the Pacific Coast League football match at Athletic Park Saturday.

The Royals will have Ian McKay in goal; F. Simpson and Jack Connell at full-back; Les Hibbert, Dave Sullivan and Bob Hunter at half-back; while the forward line will be Dave Morton and Ken Routley on the right, John Wining at centre, and Johnnie McKay and Art Hughes on the left. The spares are Alf Bremner, Alf Abraham and Trev Harvey.

Victoria United's team will be announced tonight following a practice.

Detroit's Sawchuk Faces Stiff Test

Probably the only disadvantage to winning the Stanley Cup, hockey's highest honor, is the all-star game.

Each year for the last four years the previous season's winner has met the all-star team in a benefit game for the league pension fund. The all-star team, picked by N.H.L. coaches, has yet to be beaten—and no wonder.

It's Detroit Red Wings' turn this year and they meet the power-packed all-star club in the motor city Sunday night.

The game will be a big test for the Wings, who indulged in some surprising off-season trading after taking the cup. But more than anything else it will be a test of 21-year-old Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk, who jumped from Detroit's Indianapolis farm club, played seven games in goal for Wings last year. This year he's starting his first N.H.L. season and he's attempting to replace Harry Lumley, one of the best in the business, who was traded to Chicago.

LEWICKI ON SPOT

Sawchuk isn't the only hockey player under the gun right now. Monday night in Toronto, in the annual Toronto Maple Leafs inter-squad charity game, 19-year-old Danny Lewicki will be playing for keeps, with his job with the Leafs at stake.

Playing his first year as a pro after a fine junior career, Lewicki will line-up with Max Bentley. But on the same ice will be junior stars of several seasons back—men like Tod Sloan, Sid Smith and Fleming Mackell—who've had the benefit of minor-league experience and who want to stick with the Leafs this year. Montreal Canadiens have their last pre-season week full of exhibition games. They play in Providence and Springfield against American Hockey League clubs and have one with Springfield Indians in Montreal Sunday. They'll have to play all of them without Bert Hirschfeld, former Halifax senior star, who pulled a groin muscle in practice.

Plan Aid For Minor Hockey

Plans to assist in the promotion and development of minor hockey in the city were discussed by members of the newly-organized Cougar Boosters' Club at a meeting Wednesday night.

Further action will be taken at a later meeting.

Membership cards will be distributed before and after Monday's game between the Cougars and Seattle Ironmen and between periods in the foyer of the Memorial Arena.

A suggestion box will also be placed in the foyer for all booster fans. Members talked over the possibility of traveling with the Cougars for games on the mainland.

Plastic buttons with a large red Cougar head over the word "booster" in blue are now being made. They will be sold next week.

Victorians Nearly Stuck With Ticket

Walker Reports First Game 'Raschi Show'

By BILL WALKER

PHILADELPHIA—Quick Vic Raschi of the New York Yankees all but took the "fight" out of the term "Fighting Phillies" in the opening game of the 1950 World Series here Wednesday.

The giant righthander, who was a key figure in the Yankee drive to the pennant in the closing stages of the American League campaign, was practically perfect in besting the Phils' great Jim Konstanty 1 to 0 in a tight but unspectacular pitchers' battle.

Only two hits did Raschi give the "Whiz Kids" from this series-mad city of brotherly love and only two balls did the Phillies hit solidly all afternoon.

Puddinghead Jones, the Phils third baseman grounded a single through the box in the fifth inning for the first blow off Raschi and catcher Andy Seminick followed with a line drive into leftfield in the same inning for the only other safety.

That was it as far as the Phils were concerned except for a walk to Eddie Waitkus in the sixth Raschi closed the gate in the final four heats.

BAUER SHINES

Shortstop Granny Hamner hit probably the hardest ball of the afternoon for the National League champions, but Hank Bauer robbed the Philly field captain of at least a double when he crashed into the rightfield wall in making the catch, then in the last of the eighth pinch-hitter Dick Whitman brought the crowd to its feet for the first time in the game as he chased Bauer back to the wall in deep right centre with a tremendous drive.

The bespectacled Konstanty, who is covering the game for one of the local Philadelphia papers as a sideline, only gave the Yankees four hits but was in trouble through the first four innings as the Yanks threatened to break out at any moment.

In the fourth the famed Yankee power came to the fore in the making of the game's only run—the third straight year—the opening series game has been decided by a 1 to 0 margin. With Bobby Brown on second by virtue of a double sliced to his off-field Bauer crashed a terrific drive to centrefield enabling Brown to move up. Gerry Coleman's following outfield hoist was deep enough to allow Brown to score easily.

THRILLS MISSING

The game was devoid of thrills from a spectators' standpoint, there being no plays of a sensational nature and nary a close decision for the umpires to handle. It was strictly a Raschi show and the one room loomed bigger and bigger as the game ran its course.

The crowd was disappointing in view of the fact that tickets were as scarce as hen's teeth the night before.

Things got so bad just before game time that Alex McKeachle, Ernie Fox and Sid Watson, the Victoria trio who made the long road to Philly were having a tough time unloading one ticket. And it wasn't until midnight the previous night that they managed to secure ducats, and at regulation prices, too.

Brown Proving All-Time Great Series Hitter

Hits Peak Each Time Yankees Get Into Fall Classic

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Bobby Brown—a part-time ball player who often wonders whether he might be better off as a full-time doctor—was advancing today toward baseball immortality as one of the all-time World Series hitters.

The lean, handsome Bobby was the young gent whose double, opening the fourth inning, set up the New York Yankees' winning run as they knocked off the Phillies in yesterday's series starter.

This is getting to be a habit with Brown, an unspectacular third baseman during the regular season who in three of the last four years has contributed the thumping thunder of the October classic. Back in 1947, Bobby was a rookie who hit .300 in his irregular appearances. Came the series and he was called on four times as a pinch hitter. All he did was whack out two doubles and a single in three official times at bat—and walked the other time. That's a world series record for pinch hitters.

Last year, as the Yanks clobbered the Dodgers, he got six hits in 12 trips—and walked four times. That's getting on base 10 times in 16 attempts, not as good as his 1,000 average of 1947 but still a pretty nifty .625 in the matter of reaching base, which is the prime objective in this game of rounders.

The setting was different yesterday, the Phillies being the enemy hand, but the script was the same. Dr. Brown blasted off his double and then proceeded home on two outfield flies. It was the ball game, and boosted his all time series batting average to .526. Bobby denies that he contemplated quitting baseball last season or this as he was forced to share duties at the hot corner with Billy Johnson.

Mrs. Jackson Medal Winner At Colwood

Carding a 92-14—78, Mrs. T. A. P. Jackson gained the medal honors in the first round of the Autumn Cup competition this week at the Colwood Golf Club. Runner-up was Mrs. R. Crane with a 97-17—80. Second-round matches are billed next Tuesday.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

Hockey players rolled into the dressing-room and dropped down on the benches like ripened grain before a howling wind. They were beat and utter exhaustion showed in their faces. Their lungs gulped in welcome air and it was a minute or so before there was as much as a word spoken. Sitting quietly in the corner observing the scene with a sharp twinkle in his eye was coach Roger Leger of the Victoria Cougars. Turning to the writer he said: "Those boys will be thanking me a couple of months from now." Latest edition of the Coast League entry had just gone through a stiff hour and a half morning workout after playing a game the previous night. As any athlete knows that is a bit rough but Leger has too much to do and too little time to do it in. He has to have his club licked into some semblance of shape by tomorrow night when it opens the season against the champion New Westminster Royals. Sitting chatting to the square-jawed French-Canadian one realized he is determined to make a success of his first coaching venture.

It will be a success to the extent that he will do the best job possible with the material at hand. No stone will be left unturned to get his players into tip-top condition and give them the benefit of his ability as a coach.

Leger is no slave master but he believes the players can well put up with a little extra rough going at this point in order to prepare themselves for the rigors of a 70-game schedule.

Youngsters Will Get Chance

"You know I'm going to suffer myself from spending so much time getting these youngsters into condition," Leger told me. "Nobody faces a more gruelling time getting into shape than I do at my age. But that doesn't matter as long as the youngsters are ready. That's my big job. They all want to get ahead in this hockey business, make more money and hit the big time if possible, and I'm going to do my best to see they get their big chance."

"After all I'm finished as far as the honor and glory of major hockey is concerned. I had my shot up there and now will take my glory from the recruits that I can develop into possible major leaguers."

Leger has a sense of humor that should make him popular with his players. There is some special bond between Roger and Joe Lepine, big good-natured defenceman. Maybe it lies in that both hail from the same section of our great Dominion.

He Doesn't Miss Anything

As Lepine wearily pulled off his sweaty togs Leger cracked: "What's the matter, Joe? Thinking about just how you put on extra half-pound last summer? Never mind, you're in pretty good shape right now."

Watching Eddie (Pistol) Dorohoy place his equipment in a neat pile the coach quipped: "You do the job right, which shows you must have been around the big time."

"Yeah, I've made a few stops," replied Dorohoy, who would be the last person ever struck for an answer. Across the room Bernie Strongman spoke up: "Guess I will have a cigarette before the curfew." (Starting Friday night Leger has laid down a strict rule there will be no smoking in the dressing-room, and that edict takes in everybody.)

"It will help the players, especially the young fellows who don't smoke and suffer real discomfort from breathing in the foul air. You know last night there was a fellow in here with a cigar blowing smoke all over the place. Right close to him I noticed one of the boys trying to catch his breath, after a hard game, while he was vainly fanning away the heavy smoke. No more of that after Friday."

'No Comment' Best Answer

Was surprised to hear that the inner circle of the Victoria United football team could be so upset over a few remarks tossed around by a mainland sports writer. Manager Tommy Restall, coach George Kulai and trainer Earle Barnswell should never worry about their press until the home scribes start burning their ears.

This is especially true when the writer in question misconstrued a statement to get himself a headline. They would be better advised to have completely ignored the entire incident and when questioned to have replied, "No comment." The matter would have died right there.

Rickey May Move Back To St. Louis

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Hot in the middle of the World Series today popped up two almost unbelievable reports involving St. Louis—Branch Rickey may buy the Browns and somebody may take over for boss Fred Saigh of the Cardinals.

Rickey, who relinquished his holdings with the Brooklyn Dodgers a week ago, said then he would be happy to discuss any proposition involving baseball and added that he had a couple of good ones.

When he sold his Dodger stock, most observers thought Rickey would buy into the Pittsburgh Pirates, where one of his closest friends in baseball, John Galbraith, recently took over for president Frank McKinney.

But since that transaction was arranged, Rickey has been thinking about going back to the scene of his greatest triumph in baseball—St. Louis.

List Boudreau As Candidate For Sox Berth

Paul Richards Is Also Mentioned For Chicago Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Is Lou Boudreau, popular manager of the Cleveland Indians, Chicago-bound at last?

The question, first broached a year ago when Bill Veeck came close to trading Boudreau to the White Sox and revived again last June when Lou again was offered to the same club, may be answered within the next two weeks.

The Sox will be without a manager after next week, when the board of directors meet in Chicago and officially hand current skipper John (Red) Corriden his release. Sox officials are mum on the matter, but it was learned they already have decided to replace the 63-year-old Corriden, who took over the reins in midseason.

That move will pave the way for one of two men under consideration to get the job. Top priority will go to Boudreau, if available. The other candidate held in high esteem is Paul Richards, current manager of the Seattle Rainiers in the Pacific Coast League.

It is hard to pin either the Indians or White Sox down to a definite statement regarding Boudreau. The Indians insist that Boudreau's contract, which expired at the end of the season, will be discussed in due time.

Obedience Trials 'Extras' At City Kennel Club Show

An added attraction at the Victoria City Kennel Club's two championship shows here Friday and Saturday at the Crystal Gardens will be the obedience trials staged by the Victoria Training and Obedience Club. Trials will be staged each evening between 6 and 8.

Judges will be Wally Bowden and George Donaldson, both of the city.

Judging of the main event each day will commence at 10:30 in the morning and continue to 10 at night. William Squelch of Tulameen will officiate Friday and Pat Brennan Saturday.

Twenty U.S. champions and 10 Canadian champs are included on the list of 150 canines which will parade before judges.

The U.S. entries are from Washington, Oregon and California. In addition there are entries from Mexico. Canadian entries are from all parts of the province and Vancouver Island.

Terriers head the list of entries in the groups with the working, sporting, toys, non-sporting and sporting hounds.

Adanacs Go East Hopeful Of Shattering Long Jinx

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster Adanacs, a lacrosse team in superb condition but with no strength in depth, will be fighting a jinx when they start the Mann Cup finals in Toronto Sunday.

No western champion has ever won the Dominion lacrosse title in the east. But the coast figures this year may be the exception.

A party of 21-17 players and four officials—will fly to Toronto tomorrow for the best-of-seven series against either Owen Sound Crescents or St. Catharines Athletics, who are tied 3-3 in the eastern final.

It will be Adanacs' third Mann Cup appearance in four years. In 1947 they beat Mimico Mountaineers on the coast and lost to Hamilton Tigers in the east the next year. Vancouver Burrards, 1949 champions, were shunted aside in Inter-city Lacrosse League semifinals this year by Adanacs.

Coach Bob Lee has built his team around 10 veterans. In the final stages of the league schedule, Adanacs took over the lead and romped through the playoffs by depending almost entirely on those 10 men.

Lee intends to use his man-for-man substitution system that brought A's the coast title.

With this system he always had six experienced men, excluding goalie Gordie Pogue, up front. This left three veterans in reserve, and they relieved in turn.

In other words, each of the veterans played 40 or 45 minutes every game. All are in great condition for the series.

REAL BENCH WARMERS

Lee used his seven rookies sparingly toward the end of the season and five of them scarcely got on the floor.

If a couple of Adanac veterans are injured, Lee is likely to find himself in bad shape. But he is depending on their top condition to see him through.

Trade Unionists Favor Sunday Sport

VANCOUVER (CP)—A strong bid for Sunday commercial sport in Vancouver was delivered Tuesday night at the city Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.) meeting.

Despite heavy opposition, a resolution that "council favor the relaxation Sunday 'blue laws' to allow Sunday sport and symphonies" was pressed through. The resolution also asked that "the council ask city council to reconsider its stand and hold a plebiscite this year."

Spokesman was R. J. Guthrie of the carpenters' union. Secretary R. K. Gervin, an alderman, said he opposed Sunday sport.

A motion to allow a plebiscite on the question was shelved by city council recently for the fourth time.

Eight of the 10 can play any position and all can score goals. Victoria Shamrocks found in the final that if they kept a careful eye on Jackie Northup, the league's top scorer, or other high scorers like Bobby Bremner or Reo Jerome, then defencemen Ralph Douglas or Jake Proctor might just loose for two or three goals.

Most of the veterans have Mann Cup experience. These include Pogue, who has been guarding the nets since 1947, the Douglas brothers, Ralph and Johnny, and defenceman Rolf Moun. The remaining two team veterans are Harry Smith and Mike Munro.

The rookies making the trip are Doug Proctor, Jake's brother, Ted Mosdel, Stan Tyson, Stan Bowling, Pat Carey, Lloyd Tamboline and the spare goalie, Gord Stoddart.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Japanese-American War II Veterans Act In New Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In his current picture, Van Johnson is being supported by a sales manager, a land agent, a news reporter, a psychology student, a customs agent and a nursery gardener.

No, it isn't tough to find actors out here. But the cast members of "Go For Broke" have been recruited from many walks of life. The reason: Most of them are Japanese-American war veterans.

"Go For Broke," which means "shoot the works" in Hawaiian slang, is the story of the 442nd Central Postal Directory, a unit composed of Japanese-Americans, saw action in Italy and France. Its members fought with such distinction that the survivors were presented at the White House in June, 1946.

Van Johnson, who plays an officer of the outfit, is the only star in the picture. Most of the performers are actual veterans of the 442nd.

"They are responding very well to coaching," says Robert Pirosh, writing and directing the film.

Pirosh, who wrote "Battle Ground," said:

"My idea has not been to glamorize the men.

"For instance, some of them are bitter because while they are fighting, their families and sweethearts are in relocation camps on the west coast."

Pirosh explained why he had sought real veterans instead of Hollywood names: "I think it detracts from the realism of a war picture if a face like Gregory Peck's or Dean Jagger's suddenly appears in the middle of a battle."

Van Johnson, who plays an officer of the outfit, is the only star in the picture. Most of the performers are actual veterans of the 442nd.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Today's hand was played in the finals of the men's and women's pairs in the recent summer championships of the American Contract Bridge League.

Freak hands are always hard to bid properly and this was no exception. In spite of the fact that the ace of spades was a sure winner against the hand about a third of the expert pairs reached contracts of seven in either hearts or clubs.

Most of the grand slam heart bidders were doubled and set two tricks by a club lead. The grand slam club bidders also went down two on a spade opening and club return. However, they were not doubled.

Another third of the players reached the small slam in a suit. Some were lucky and made their contracts. Other went down one.

About a sixth of the players reached the lay-down six no-trump contract by themselves. Another sixth got there the hard

ADVICE TO FAMILIES

Psychological Crises New CBC Series Topic

By GLENNE CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian radio listeners will meet a soap-opera family with a difference Oct. 17.

New program is "Life With the Robinsons"—series of 12 dramatic episodes in the life of a typical family, produced on the CBC's Dominion Network.

Fundamental idea behind the series is to point up and discuss the emotional and psychological crises that develop from the slightly abnormal mental traits and processes that can be found in nearly all families.

"Social significance" as a program label is something that often is viewed askance. But "Life With the Robinsons" promises to be as interesting and thought-provoking as "Return Journey," which it succeeds. The pill will be well-sugared, too, as the humorous side of life will be well to the fore.

The series is produced by the CBC's talks and public affairs department in co-operation with the Canadian Mental Health Association, whose medical director, Dr. M. Griffin, will discuss each problem, suggesting methods of prevention and cure.

Mrs. Marjorie Menaney, attractive, vivacious supervisor of all three programs, is enthusiastic and "dedicated" to "The Robinsons."

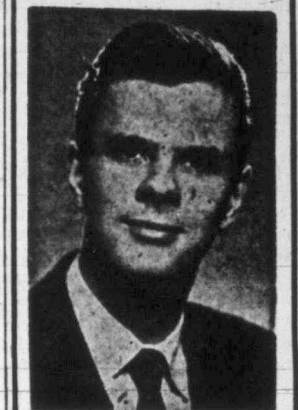

"The main idea," she told the Canadian Press, "is an attempt to discuss mental health problems through a mass medium."

"I believe there is some urgency in presenting this sort of thing. The idea of treatment of mental diseases is only really just catching on; the average person still thinks of medicine in a purely physical sense."

The scripts, by Ted Allan, are based on actual case histories and on interviews with persons who have undergone similar upheavals. None of the Robinsons are dangerously ill mentally, just maladjusted to circumstances and given little external help to right themselves.

Main protagonist of the series is 10-year-old Michael, the introvert of the family. He is "moody" and sensitive to his mother's continued carping on money problems. His sister Kathy, 7, is the complete extrovert whom everyone loves; consequently, she is rather selfish and unfeeling.

The flat-tired car is rolled on this half and the second half is put on.

PRODUCER PLANNING

Film Of Christ's Life To Cost $5,000,000

COPENHAGEN (CP)—Carl Th. Dreyer, world-famous Danish film producer, is planning a $5,000,000 picture of the life of Christ, using Greek, Latin and Hebrew dialogue.

Dreyer, who produced such silent film classics as "Jeanne d'Arc" (1928) and "Vampire" (1930), said in an interview here he plans to shoot the epic in Israel with the political background of Christ's life stressed.

"The aim of the film, first and foremost, is to describe Christ's life against the background of the political and social circumstances of the time," he said.

"Palestine was an occupied country. The occupation troops were Roman and the natives, Jews. One of the Jews was Jesus. In order to combat the anti-Semitism which has again broken out in the world I think it is useful for all Christian people to have it clear in their minds that the man in Whom they believe, and His apostles, were all Jews."

ORIGINAL TONGUES

Dreyer said the actors will speak the languages which were spoken at that time. In the court scenes Latin will be spoken; the educated classes will speak Greek; and the ordinary people, Hebrew.

"To make it understood it will be necessary, when the film is shown, to put in a commentary in the language of the country in which it is being shown. But the plot and the lines are already well known by most people."

He said the North American producer, Eivind Davis, has formed an independent film company for this one film. It will be shot in black and white "Woodcut Style," and will take about two years to make.

Plans For Growing Rice In North Australia Areas

Great Vacant Regions Draw Envious Eyes Of Huge, Hungry Populations

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY (CP)—Thoughtful Australians always have been concerned about the empty spaces in the northwest. This vulnerable, uninhabited land is a national danger area. A report has been presented to the Commonwealth government which gives grounds for even greater anxiety.

The report states huge potential rice fields lie in that area. It was prepared by W. Poggenorff, chief of the division of plant industry in the department of commerce.

Australia's Oriental neighbors, urgently needing more living space for their over-populated territories, have long cast envious eyes on the Northern Territory. They will now be able to point to an official Australian report, saying the Commonwealth has the very land they so urgently need to grow their staple food—rice.

These hundreds of thousands of acres of potential rice-growing land are at present lying idle. At best, they are used as occasional pastures for wandering herds. The reaction of Australia's neighbor is not hard to predict.

The chairman of the Rice Equalization Association, A. E. Symons, says that "before the war there was an exportable surplus of rice amounting to 6,500,000 tons, most of which came from Burma, Siam and Indo-China. Today this supply has dwindled to less than 1,500,000 tons, and is still dwindling because of the turmoil in those countries."

DISRUPTED BY REDS

These great rice-exporting countries have been disrupted by Communist infiltration, on top of the damage done to their paddy fields by the Japanese. Their embankments were broken, their water buffalo killed, and their fields allowed to grow over with weeds.

This results in more mouths to feed and less rice to feed them with.

It is certain the existence of the tremendous rice-growing areas of the Northern Territory will be headlined in the news.

SPEED NEEDED

There is only one effective method of protecting it. That is fast development.

Poggenorff's report contains clear-cut proposals for action. A great deal of work has already been done by the Commonwealth scientific and industrial research organization and the Western Australian government. The next step is large-scale experimental planting and further observations on flood levels and rainfall.

As soon as 10,000 acres are under crop, the Australian rice industry is prepared to erect a mill. With the resultant growth of a township around the mill and increased utilization of the land, the Commonwealth hopes to avoid censure and pressure from the crowded countries of southeast Asia.

Nov. 25 Deadline On Yule Mail For R.C.N. At Korea

Deadline for Christmas mail for the Canadian destroyers now serving in Korean waters is Nov. 25, the Fleet Mail Office at Esquimalt reports.

However, officials are anxious that families and friends sending parcels to the sailors do not leave it until close to that date, since most of the mail goes by R.C.A.F. airlift to the Far East, and a last-minute deluge could delay the parcels.

Foodstuffs or other perishable or breakable articles should not be sent.

Parcels should be kept as small as possible and should not exceed 6½ pounds. Large, heavy parcels may be routed by surface mail, which takes about six weeks to get to Korea.

$30,000 Asked

Saanich Council wants to extend its Sayward Pier gravel pit to take in more country. However, the property it wants is owned by a private individual and he wants $30,000 for it.

Desire is that new gravel pits farther afield would be preferred to accepting that "excessive demand." The present pit's yield is expected to be exhausted in two or three years.

Mayor Criticizes Driving Habits On City Streets

Hundreds of motorists need to be taught the proper way to drive on city streets, Mayor Percy George said at a meeting of the police commission.

He said it was glaringly evident every day that many drivers ignore the directions on the channel-lined streets.

"All they need do is to read the directions written on the streets and they will be driving properly," said Mayor George.

He went on to explain how a motorist the other day came into the right lane and then went across his bow to make a left turn.

Howe Not Coming

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will not come to Victoria when he makes a flying visit to Vancouver Thursday, it was learned today. Mr. Howe is going to Vancouver to address a meeting of the Board of Trade there Friday, and he will return to Ottawa Sunday.

The Milk that Keeps!

Early Snow Brings Crop Losses To Farmers In Manitoba

Grain fields in southeastern areas of Manitoba were blanketed with wet snow, which at places reached five inches in depth. Farmers said the storm was one of the most severe for this time of year in their memories. Sur-

U.N. Committee Votes Plan For United Korea

By 47 To 5 Proposals Adopted After Rejection Of Scheme Offered By Soviet Bloc

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United Nations political committee overwhelmingly approved today an eight-power plan for uniting and rebuilding Korea under a stronger U.N. commission.

The committee vote was 47 to 5 (Soviet bloc) after the Eastern leaders had rejected efforts for a compromise with an opposing Russian bloc plan.

The committee thus gave tacit approval for U.N. forces to cross the 38th Parallel dividing North and South Korea to put down North Korean aggression.

The vote came after paragraph-by-paragraph votes in the committee. The committee then turned to the Soviet bloc proposal, with the Russians demanding a roll-call vote by paragraphs in a long resolution.

The backing received by the resolution in the committee guarantees its adoption later this week at a plenary session on the General Assembly itself.

The approved resolution provides:

1. Action including holding of elections under auspices of the U.N., for establishing a unified, independent and democratic government in the sovereign state of Korea.

2. That United Nations forces should not remain in any part of Korea longer than necessary for achieving creation of this unified government. This was taken among the supporting delegates to mean U.N. forces could pursue North Korean aggressors north of the 38th Parallel.

3. That all necessary measures be taken to accomplish the economic rehabilitation of Korea.

4. A new U.N. commission of seven members to supervise elections for the new government of all Korea.

Russia's foreign minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, opposed the eight-power plan in long committee speeches. He said it would permit indefinite occupation of Korea by foreign troops.

Lack Of Interest Said Reason For Students Quitting

Main reason students leave school at an early age is simply that they lack interest in school work, A. G. McColl, research director of the Canadian Research Committee on Practical Education, told the Canadian Education Association Wednesday.

Addressing delegates to the association's annual convention in the Empress Hotel, Mr. McColl reported about 50 per cent of those who quit school early say that they find school uninteresting or they lack ability or that the school's curriculum is not suited to their needs.

"These reasons," Mr. McColl suggested, "are largely within the power of the school to correct."

Economic reasons are second in importance and personal reasons, which includes indifference on the part of parents, is least important.

Fined For Bonfire In Forested Area

The B.C. Forest Service reports Duncan Cameron, Highland District, was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate A. L. Thomas in the R.C.M.P. court, Victoria, for burning rubbish in a forested area during the closed season without a permit.

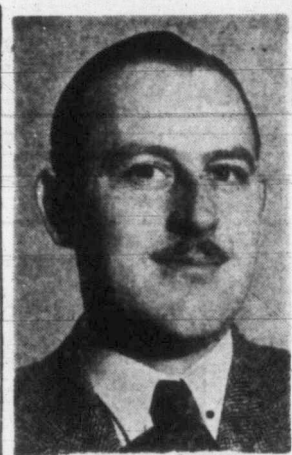

Infractions Bring Fines

Young driver Richard H. Willeghy, 3136 Highview Street, was fined $30 or six days in jail in police court Wednesday on three charges of infractions of the Motor Vehicle Act.

In city court today he pleaded guilty to having no windshield wiper, for failing to have a license plate fastened so that it will not swing and for failing to have his rear license plate illuminated. Fines were $10 and two days on each charge.

Police Clear Up 'Kidnap' Attempt

The citation, dealing with exhibition photography, states that the award is made "For outstanding achievement in the field of pictorial photography."

TLC Secretary Critical Of Navy Reply

Percy Rayment, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, complained to Wednesday night's council meeting over the way in which correspondence from him was treated by officers within H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt.

Mr. Rayment told of sending a brief to the senior naval officer at the dockyard with respect to pay and hours of work of fire fighters at the yard.

He said he waited "about seven weeks" for a reply and then the reply was entirely unsatisfactory.

Mr. Rayment said his brief pointed out great differences between pay and working conditions of firemen in the dockyard to pay and working conditions of firemen in local municipal forces. Mr. Rayment said dockyard firemen were required to work a 56-hour week.

Mr. Rayment said K. G. Slade, who replied to his brief Sept. 29 on behalf of Capt. B. R. Spencer, indicated nothing could be done about the firemen's pay or hours of work as they were actually civilian workers governed by the wage scale set under the Dominion Civil Service Act and pointed out the 56-hour week was in effect for firemen at National Defence establishments all across the country.

Stable Market Indicated For Potato Crop Of 1950

OTTAWA (CP)—Based on present crop expectations, a fairly stable market for the lowly Canadian spud during the next year is indicated.

Government agricultural experts naturally won't hazard a guess as to the price trend either to the producer or to the consumer, but they do point to reports that blight is reducing the potato crop.

If that happens, the feeling here is that producer prices, at least, won't go below what they are now. At present they are about 25 cents a bushel lower than a year ago.

Final official estimates of the 1950 harvest won't be available until mid-November, but a preliminary survey issued by the Bureau of Statistics three weeks ago placed the crop then at 55-363,000 hundredweight as against 53,518,000 last year.

Since then, however, there have been reports of blight infesting the country's potato-growing areas, bringing the possibility of reduced yields and a steady—if not higher—price range. The extent of blight will be shown in the November estimate.

Washington reports indicate lower United States prices for potatoes this year may reduce Canadian exports to the American market. Canada normally exports about 10,000,000 bushels, both of table and seed variety, to the U.S. each year.

Potato experts here agree the U.S. market may be less attractive this year. However, a reduced Canadian crop would avert the possibility of any price-depressing surplus at home.

IGLOOS NOW CAN GET HEAT FROM WATER

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto's mechanical engineering department has found out how to heat an igloo with ice water.

Professor E. A. Allcut and his staff tried out the experiment on an Arctic lake, using a heat pump—the principal part of an ordinary refrigeration unit.

Prof. Allcut used the pump pipe to take the heat out of water lying under the frozen surface. The water was turned into ice—but it gave up enough heat to warm the hut in which the experiment was conducted.

Stassen Invites Stalin To Talk Peace With Him

Writes Moscow Proposing Early Meeting; Move Not Official, Says State Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen announced Wednesday he had written Prime Minister Stalin of Russia suggesting a face-to-face meeting in an effort "to stop the drift toward war."

The State Department quickly disowned Stassen's move as having any official status. A spokesman said, however, that Stassen would undoubtedly be granted a passport if he asks one to carry out his proposed mission.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, told reporters State Secretary Dean Acheson had been informed of Stassen's letter two days ago, but he declared: "The State Department had no prior knowledge." Stassen told a press conference he had written Stalin Monday, strongly urging the Soviet dictator to change the Soviet Union's present policy "and move toward peace and freedom for mankind."

The letter strongly criticized the Kremlin for "refusal to co-operate in stopping the Korean aggression, and on other scores."

Stassen said he had sent the letter to the Kremlin via the Soviet Embassy here. Stassen now is president of the University of Pennsylvania. A former governor of Minnesota, he was an aspirant for the 1948 Republican Presidential nomination that went to Thomas E. Dewey. Stassen told newspaper men that in broaching the idea of a conference with Stalin he was aware the U.S. criminal code makes it an offence for a private American citizen to deal with a foreign power in an attempt to influence foreign policy.

This was a reference to the Logan Act, passed in 1799 to deal with post-revolutionary groups who sought to negotiate with Britain and France concerning their policies toward the fledgling American republic.

Stassen said his proposed mission is legal and that the second paragraph of his letter to Stalin makes it clear he is not seeking to influence Russia's policies toward the United States.

Dr. R. E. Anderson was elected president of the board of the Chiropractors' Association of British Columbia at the 17th annual meeting in Vancouver.

Retiring president is Dr. P. D. Carr, who has served on the board since its inception in 1934. Other officers elected were: Dr. W. O. Morgan, vice-president; Dr. E. Davies, registrar, and Dr. V. S. Eikenberry, chairman of the board of examiners.

JOHN LEDGER

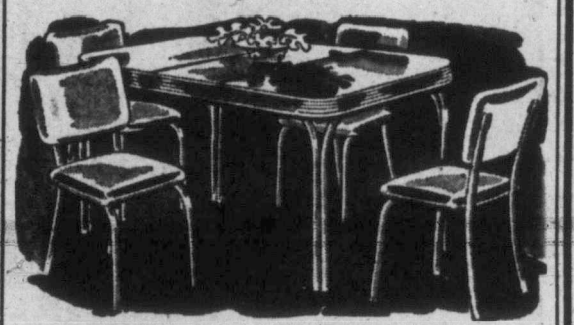

Seven-Up Vancouver Ltd. are pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. John H. Ledger to the position of manager of their Vancouver Island operation. Mr. Ledger comes to this position after many years of executive activity in the soft drink field. His object will be to maintain the continuous high quality of produce and service to all 7-Up and Mission Beverage dealers in the area.

H. Thayer Elected To T.L.C. Executive

Harold Thayer, delegate of the Machinists' Union to the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, was elected Wednesday night to the council's executive.

Mr. Thayer is to serve as chairman of the legislative committee, succeeding Jack Reid, who resigned the post after being moved to Vancouver.

Transport Dept. Officials Confer

There is always lots of paper work connected with keeping Canada's lighthouses and other marine aids operating continuously. During three-day visit here, H. V. Anderson, left, director of marine services for the Department of Transport, checked files with local agent Tom Morrison.

Work Of B.C.'s Lightkeepers Praised By Ottawa Director

The men who lead a lonely life making our shores safe for mariners came in for a pat on the back from their chief today. "We're proud of our staff of lightkeepers. We have a loyal group of men," said H. V. Anderson, of Ottawa, director of marine services for the Department of Transport. In the city for the first time in three years on a routine tour of facilities on this coast, Mr. Anderson noted that such loyalty likely stemmed from the fact that most lightkeepers were recruited from the sea, and thus had a full realization of the importance and responsibility of their jobs. "And the last thing they complain of is loneliness," added the local D.O.T. agent, Tom Morrison. During his stay here, Mr. Anderson visited the new light at the eastern extremity of Saturna Island. A powerful beam which can be seen more than 30 miles shines from the light mounted on an open steel tower instead of the large and more expensive structures which were built in the past. The marine service director said no major plans for this coast were being evolved by his department, although a new lighthouse tender was needed. On local matters, he said he thought a harbor commission was not a necessity for Victoria. He praised work of the harbor development branch of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Anderson sails from Vancouver for Prince Rupert aboard the Princess Louise tonight.

TLC To Continue Urging Multiple Polling Booths

Council President, Secretary Report On Meeting With City Officials On Matter

Officers of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council indicated at their meeting Wednesday night that they will continue to press for trial of the multiple-polling booth system at this year's civic election.

Council president C. A. Peck and Secretary Percy Rayment told of a meeting Wednesday morning with City Council's legislative committee at which the matter was discussed.

They said City Clerk Frank Hunter, who is returning officer at election time, had presented written arguments against implementing the multiple polling system.

Mr. Peck and Mr. Rayment argued, however, that the convenience to the public—especially the working public—would more than likely warrant the additional effort and expenditure that might be entailed.

MAYOR WILLING

Mr. Rayment reported Mayor Percy George expressed himself as being prepared to make a trial of the multiple polling system to determine whether or not such a system would result in a heavier vote.

Mr. Peck said the Trades and Labor Council, together with the Civic Non-Partisan League and the Victoria Property Owners' Association, would be given another week or so to consider the matter and then they would meet again for further discussion with City Council's legislative committee.

"We are not asking for 100 polling stations," Mr. Rayment observed. "We would like to see seven or eight tested. It is quite possible City Council will give our suggestion a trial if our next presentation is sound."

Always Plenty of Free, Convenient Parking at The BAY

By ART STOTT

You don't have to urge people to put on their rose-colored specs to look back at their schooldays. Adults always look through rose-colored glasses at that slice of existence. That's what makes them tell the youngsters how lucky they are—"best years of your life" and all that. It's a matter of opinion. The youngsters don't always agree.

Adults have drifted a long way from school years. Recollection works like a sundial. It counts only the sunny hours. Overlooked are those feverish and unhappy times when problems wouldn't work out. In advanced years, parents laugh at the old hickory, or its psychological equivalent, that brought tears to their eyes as juveniles. Actually, most grown-ups aren't very content. They've forgotten the score.

Stott

THEY CAN straighten out their thinking if they'll do what they're expected to do—dig into homework with the kids. That takes some of the guilt from the gingerbread. Homework is pretty dull. It's a little monotonous listening to a Grade Sixer stumble through spelling lists. It's a little aggravating hearing a child go through pages of oral reading. It's downright frustrating trying to remember how to do square root.

Somewhat or other, a parent just doesn't seem to recapture the best days of his life around the cleared dinner table where the kids do their homework. It's strange. Here are the materials that made school, the very things that occupied him as a child five hours a day, five days a week, yet they strike no spark of inspiration.

FOR HIS OWN peace of mind, a parent shouldn't get too close to school work again. He ought to survey it benignly from an easy chair. It's so much more satisfying to glance up from a newspaper or a book and watch, with fond eyes, as junior gnaws the end of a pencil trying to find the next word or sentence for his composition—just like a columnist filling out his space.

It's so much easier to smile at a daughter, tangled in her sums and tell her to "work it out yourself, sis. You wouldn't learn how to do it if I did it for you." It takes far less effort to instruct a youngster to write out a spelling list, rather than say it out loud—less effort for the parent, that is.

Of course the modern father and mother realize they have a part to play in education—good old home and school, where everyone works to assist the child to the attainment of skills and social adjustment.

IT'S A SLIGHTLY one-sided deal, though. Parents don't often object when schools give the kind of teaching that used to be given at home. "Effective Living" is aimed, in part, at that. But why should teachers foist off school work as homework, on parents? That isn't what a man pays taxes for.

Parents can be much happier if they just skirt around the issue. The practice is to pick up the small fry's books, leaf through them and burble out harmless little remarks: "My, my, aren't these interesting? We never had books like these. Why, it would be a pleasure to study them. Look at the pictures."

That's good, safe procedure. Don't get involved. When a bright little head pops up and asks, "Daddy, what's a gerundival phrase?" Give the mopey the Hoopee routine—lots of words that cloak your own ignorance and may, or may not, impress the child.

THERE'S ANOTHER little scheme that sometimes works. Find out what your boy or girl is studying and wait until something crops up that you know. Maybe it'll be a simple equation. Then give the young hopeful the treatment. You create a marvelous impression if you can whip through a quadratic before the child has reached that point. But let it go at that. Don't try to move in on Einstein. Just let the youngster think you could.

Whatever you do, don't get bogged down in homework. If you do, that shining idea that school gave you the best years of your life, is going to tarnish. Don't let that illusion perish. It's a basic article of faith. Without it, where can a guy look for his best years? All he has left is years, and years and years—none best.

Brentwood College Reconstruction Is Dream Of Woman From California

By DON INGHAM

If the dream of Miss Mary H. Unkefer, 469 Hot Springs Road, Santa Barbara, Calif., comes true, then Brentwood College will be rebuilt on the old college property at Brentwood Bay.

Shortly after the school was destroyed by fire on Aug. 16, 1947, Miss Unkefer bought a portion of the property, thus preserving it, she hoped, as a school site.

To date she has had no success. While in Victoria during the past summer she attempted to interest persons here in financing a new school and property, but had no response.

Continuing her effort, she offered the Brentwood Old Boys' Association the property in return for sufficient income to pay the annual taxes. If the Old Boys would undertake this obligation, she wrote in a letter to Dr. Maurice D. Young, newly elected president of the association, she would will the property to the association.

At the Old Boys' annual meeting in Vancouver Miss Unkefer's offer was discussed, but no definite action was taken.

Miss Unkefer, who has worked with juveniles for the past 20 years, is 60 years of age and describes herself as a "working woman." In her letter to Dr. Young she said it was her "love of young people" that prompted her to buy the land, and that she "can't afford to let it lie idle."

"I left Victoria with a feeling that people would rather have a hot-dog stand than an institution for the good of humanity," Miss Unkefer concluded.

A PLACE HERE
It is known that, in some circles in Victoria, there is considerable interest in rebuilding the college. Elsewhere in Canada, applications to such institutions in many cases exceed capacity, and it is believed that another college would find a place here.

Financially, however, such colleges find difficulty. Increased costs of operation over the past few years have been a constant problem to the operating boards.

Prior to 1924 the building was a hotel, but from that year until its destruction by fire, it operated continuously as a college, graduating approximately 600 boys from many parts of the world.

When the college was burned, University School took over the enrollment of the college, and certain assets and liabilities of the college.

"I understand that at the time an agreement was made between the two boards of governors that Brentwood College would not be rebuilt," one former member of the board said. "However, the agreement was verbal, and no time limit was set. Since the old Brentwood College board has practically dissolved, the picture could be changed."

Sentiment regarding union of the Old Boys' Associations of the two institutions, suggested following the fire, is also divided.

"Some want to continue as the 'Brentwood Old Boys,'" according to Logan Mayhew, a Brentwood College graduate, "while others feel they should amalgamate. I believe that with University School having undertaken the Brentwood obligations, our allegiance lies there."

Shipyards May Ask For Strike Vote

Victoria shipyard workers may soon apply to the B.C. Labor Relations Board for a government-supervised strike vote.

For months, the shipyard workers unions and the shipbuilding companies, Yarrow's Ltd., and Victoria Machinery Depot, have been deadlocked in a dispute involving wages and working conditions.

In recent weeks, four separate conciliation boards have sat to consider issues in dispute with a view to arriving at a middle-of-the-road solution, acceptable to both sides.

It is now apparent, however, that the conciliators have found their task impossible. It is expected before the week is out, the separate boards will report to the government's labor agency that they have been unable to find any settlement formula.

Pay Grading For Teachers Under Dispute

Automatic Salary Boosts Criticized

Considerable controversy occurred at today's session of the B.C. School Trustees' Convention as delegates worked halfway through 22 resolutions.

One of the most contentious motions put before today's meeting was one proposing grading of teachers for salary purposes. In submitting the motion, Frank Wilson, Chilliwack, said the present system of granting automatic increments in salary to teachers after they had served a specified time was not sound. He went so far as to say this system encouraged slacking.

He argued the principle of rewarding effort was a sound one and that the trustees' association should take up with the Department of Education the possibility of establishing a grading scheme for teachers so hard-working and efficient members of the profession would receive appropriate recognition.

A. Dodd, from Langley Prairie, was in complete disagreement and argued for defeat of the resolution.

Mr. Dodd said it was unfair to say the present system of increasing teachers' pay in relation to length of service encouraged slacking. He defended teachers by saying less than 10 per cent were inclined to take their jobs lightly and just get by.

Dick Reeve, Victoria, presented arguments in favor of the resolution. He said the scheme was not a reflection on teachers; that it was a means of encouraging them to get ahead.

Put to a vote, the resolution carried by a wide margin.

Doctor's Absence Causes Court Tiff

Trial of James S. Morrison, Langford, charged with drunken driving, was remanded to next Wednesday by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court Wednesday after defence counsel J. Ronald Grant had voiced strong objection.

Mr. Grant said he considered it a discourtesy to himself that he had not been informed a doctor witness would be late as he was performing an operation.

City Truck Driver Third In 'Rodeo'

A truck driver for 12 years, W. J. McGuffie, 3097 Earl Grey Street, Victoria, took third place in the semi-trailer competition at the "rodeo" of the Automotive Transport Association of B.C. held in Vancouver.

For the past seven years he has been employed by the Island Freight Service and, prior to that, he worked for Central Cartage.

More Names May Go On Ballot For Conservative Leader Choice

Pearkes, Green, Fulton Mentioned As Rival For Herbert Anscomb

By LLOYD BAKER

The fight for provincial leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party reaches a climax Friday when 650 delegates from all parts of the province open what is expected to be one of the liveliest political conventions British Columbia has seen.

Delegates are arriving at Hotel Vancouver convention headquarters today and although it would appear that Hon. Herbert Anscomb has supporters well lined up for the fray, there is little doubt the two-day meeting will be explosive.

There is strong belief that Mr. Anscomb will have more than one contender in his battle to retain the leadership.

Only one aspirant for the office has appeared publicly — South Okanagan's M.L.A., W. A. C. Bennett.

Behind the scenes the names of Howard Green and David Fulton are being mentioned. Mr. Green is Vancouver-Quadra member of the House of Commons, and a long-time critic of Mr. Anscomb's methods of leading the Tory party in B.C. Mr. Fulton is the popular speech-making M.P. for Kamloops.

Another name, closer to Victoria, has been on the lips of convention delegates too. Maj. Gen. George Pearkes, V.C., M.P. for Nanaimo, is a favorite among the rank and file, and although he has stated from the public platform in recent weeks that he supports Mr. Anscomb as leader, it is not beyond the realms of possibility that he might be drafted.

Gen. Pearkes' differences with the national leader of the party, Col. George Drew, would appear to make a move to the provincial scene attractive to him.

Intriguing in the move by a faction of the party anxious to see Mr. Anscomb removed from the leadership is the method in which the question will be brought before the convention.

The anti-Anscomb group might call for a non-confidence vote. Or a motion might be put forward calling for the convention to consider the question of leadership.

The latter move appears the more likely.

WALL FIRE PUT OUT

City firemen put out a fire in the wall of the kitchen of the home of Mrs. H. A. Michael, 1037 Burdett Avenue, it was reported today. They were on the job 48 minutes.

Two Clips In The Hand
Worth Four Bibs At Home!

By PENNY SAVER

Mother's, bless ya, how often have you, with Junior, arrived at a friend's home, where a luncheon or dinner party has been planned, and realized, as you put your offspring into his chair, that his all-important bib had been left at home. You say that in that last-minute rush of giving the cat her saucer of milk, tying up the family pooch, lest he take advantage of your absence and make hay while the sun shines, on the master's slippers, Junior's clothes saver escaped your memory.

Well, now that you're at your hostess's home you figure you might just as well make the best of it. The good woman comes gaily forth with the suggestion that you use one of her Junior's all set to be fed now except that he's sitting there looking as if he's swallowed a wasp! The weight of that heavy napkin has drawn his little round-necked sweater down to a new low plunging neckline and the over-all effect is exasperating. Fret no more!

I found a couple of twin turtles, this morning, that will fit that situation to a T. The turtles, guess I should mention the fact that they are plastic, are sold under the name of bib clips. The versatile turtles will take a firm hold on any towel or napkin and with them along, traveling is a delight. In pink or blue, the set includes an adjustable tape and clips packaged in a plastic case, for 59 cents.

Do you recall the snug two-button sweaters I mentioned a few weeks ago. At the time colors available in the all-wool garments were pink and white. Have news for you. The same sweater, the same price $3.95 but two new colors have been added, black and pale blue.

best linen table napkins. Great! So you tuck the napkin... it resembles a tablecloth on Junior's small frame... under his chin and hope to heaven the small fry won't have one of his throw-em-on-the-floor jags.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The diaper care of a young baby should be organized so as to make it easy for the mother to provide plenty of fresh, clean diapers for his frequent needs.

Everyone has a favorite type of diaper for babies, and I am no exception. Having used all types I am partial to the thin-type diaper for everyday wear, though the thick knitted type is excellent for special occasions. Thin diapers are easier to keep free of stains and if folded properly afford ample protection. For the girl baby the thick folds should come in the back and for the baby boy in the front.

The next necessity is to have plenty of them. They have a dozen uses and on days when baby is ill, or when there is some emergency, a baby can use two or three dozen in a day. Four dozen is an absolute necessity and six is even better. They will be in use for at least 18 months or more.

To prevent having to run up and downstairs in a two-story house, keep a pile of diapers (and even a diaper pail) both up and downstairs. Keep water in the pail and add one-half cup of vinegar to this water. Shake 'til soiled diapers vigorously in the toilet first and then put them, along with the wet ones, in the pail of vinegar water. Diapers can be washed every day or every other day, and each time the diapers are washed rinse out the pail, scald it and refill with clean water and more vinegar.

Wash diapers with good soap suds (mild, not harsh, soaps or washing powders, which may effect the baby's tender skin), and rinse through at least two waters. Hang out of doors to dry whenever possible as the wind and sun make them sweet smelling and soft.

Our leaflet No. 9, "Diaper Care and Ammoniacal Urine," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Wed In Naden
Chapel Rites

In H.M.C.S. Naden Chapel, Padre David Peebles, R.C.N., officiated at the wedding of Anne Nancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Banks, 335 Arnold Avenue, to Donald A. Apha, R.C.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Apha, Medicine Hat, Alta., on Sept. 28.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a navy blue net dress posed over ice blue satin. Her coronet was fashioned of pale blue feathers and lily of the valley, and she wore pale blue net mittens, and corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. I. M. Bullis, in wine shadow taffeta with grey accessories, and corsage bouquet of white carnations, was her sister's only attendant.

The groom was attended by his brother, AB. Norman Apha, R.C.N., as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where guests were received by the newlyweds assisted by the bride's mother. Mrs. Banks chose a black taffeta and lace ensemble for the occasion.

A two-tier cake, encircled in pink tulle, and flanked by cut glass vases of sweet peas, centred the table. Toast was proposed by Mr. J. L. Patton.

The couple are on an extended motor trip through United States, to Calgary and Medicine Hat. The bride wore a grey taffeta frock, topped with matching gabardine topcoat, and grey and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Westgate, Hollywood Crescent, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Westgate, who recently came from London, Eng., have just returned from a motor trip to California and Mexico.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

College Co-ed Beats Bushes For Help In Winning Heart Of Fine, Serious Upper Classman

Dear Mary Haworth: I am much interested in a certain boy who is a year ahead of me in college. He is a good student, well liked, and he is interested in music, art, world affairs and social service—all interests similar to mine. But unfortunately he is indifferent to girls, including me. He is friendly with girls, but he doesn't date.

After sitting next to him in class for half a semester, and talking with him several times in the library, I got up courage to ask him to a dormitory dance last spring. Although he had a previous engagement, he arranged to come and we had a good time. He really enjoyed himself, but he hasn't dated me since. Mary Haworth, good looking, but he is so fine and decent that you forget his looks; and I like him more than I can say. I doubt that I shall ever again meet anyone as fine as he.

Only recently I learned that a close friend of mine comes from Bud's home town. I asked her why he doesn't date and she said he'd liked a girl in high school who was very unfaithful to him. Evidently this hurt him a lot, as he was very fond of her. My friend assures me he isn't engaged. I am returning to college soon and I don't want to date any boy but Bud; and I am planning to break off with a boy who has asked me to go steady.

BROTHERLY FRIEND
URGES PLAIN TALK

Perhaps it is foolish to deprive myself of dates I could have, but I want to be free until I know Bud's intentions. And I can't really like other boys anyway, until I know my chances with Bud. If he were to tell me he hates me, I would be cured; but it's the "not knowing" that bothers me. I dream about him, have nightmares, etc., and I fear the suspense may hurt my studies. I have to make good grades because I'm in college on a scholarship.

In desperation I went to a girl friend's brother last week and asked him what I should do. He said honesty is the best policy, and that I should walk right up to Bud, tell him how I feel, and ask him if he dislikes me. I feel that would be a radical step; but something has to be done. Is there wisdom in his advice? Or can you tell me how to forget Bud? He graduates next spring.

C. C.

STILL ATTACHED TO FICKLE JADE

Dear C. C.: The time isn't ripe to jump down Bud's throat with a probing question about his feeling for you. Last spring, or when you last saw him, he was still in love with the fickle jade in his home town. I think. That is why he didn't translate your

A. Leslie Slater Brings
Ontario Bride To Coast

After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, A. Leslie Slater and his bride, the former Margaret Turner, married in Petrolia, Ont., on Sept. 2, motored to the coast to make their home in Vancouver.

Before settling in their home, the couple visited the groom's sisters, Mrs. Arthur Bagshaw and Mrs. F. O. Hole, in this city.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Turner, Petrolia, was attended by her sister, Miss Colleen Turner, as maid of honor, and by her niece, Christina Turner, as flower girl.

Attending the groom, son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Andrew Slater of Victoria, was his brother, William Slater, Winnipeg.

For the wedding, solemnized at the Turner home, the bride was gowned in traditional white satin styled with fitted bodice, accented with quilted scalloped neckline, embroidered in seed pearls and rhinestones, and bouffant skirt extending into a slight train.

A star-shaped crown of seed pearls held her finger-length veil, and she carried gardenias encircled with American Beauty roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Draper and their daughter, Diane, of Victoria, were among out-of-town guests.

Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, OCT. 5, 1950 17

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richardson met friends in the foyer during intermission at the Royal Theatre yesterday evening, where Victoria Symphony Orchestra appeared in its first concert of the season.

Miss Iris Birchall, right, one of a group of Solarium Junior League members handling checking, directs Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Harrington to check room.

Miss Heather Hughes, right, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Hughes, were among many younger music lovers who enjoyed the program.

Ardent supporters of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra are Mr. and Mrs. T. Juelsberg.

It was a farewell party for Mrs. H. R. Rutnan, left, who attended the concert with Mrs. Elza Mayhew. She is leaving Friday for a visit with relatives in Spain.

Opening Of Symphony Season Marked By Formal Elegance Of Feminine Gowns

"The still sweet fall of music" held a record crowd of theatre-goers entranced yesterday evening at Royal Victoria Theatre where Victoria Symphony Orchestra opened its 10th anniversary season with a program that pleased the most discriminating.

Adding an undertone of excitement to the occasion was the pleasant hum of voices before curtain time and at intermission, as friends met again after the summer interlude.

It was a dress-up occasion too, with many feminine guests wearing their most attractive formal to mark opening of the fall and winter theatre season.

Parchment white brocaded satin was chosen by guest soloist Mrs. Gertrude Huntly Green.

The bodice was styled with wide off-the-shoulder bertha and net yoke outlined with pearls. The skirt fell into graceful fullness that rippled as the artist walked.

Mayor and Mrs. Percy E. George arrived with Acting Mayor and Mrs. Harold Diggon. Mrs. George wore a velvet wrap over her black faille and lace gown. Mrs. Diggon in a two-piece ensemble, the jacket of white crepe and the skirt in black, wore a satin-lined black velvet cloak over her shoulders.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Munro were accompanied by Dr. J. Durand, husband of the guest artist. Her daughter, Mrs. Munro, was in bottle green taffeta and wore a brief jacket.

In black, touched with gold, was Mrs. Stuart Keate. She was accompanied by her husband, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times. Mrs. Logan Mayhew, attending with her husband, was also in black, her lovely taffeta gown banded with black velvet.

Miss Jean Tyson, accompanied her mother, Mrs. George Tyson, to the concert. The latter wore a classic gown of black crepe, topped with sealskin coat.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McElmoyle and Dr. and Mrs. Simon Marinker were a supper party foursome prior to the affair. Mrs. McElmoyle wore a rhinestone necklace with her azure blue crepe frock fashioned with pencil slim skirt.

Furs And Lace, Taffetas And Silks

Mrs. Walter A. Stenner, wife of the vice-president of the Victoria Symphony Society wore black net over taffeta beneath her Siberian squirrel jacket.

A perfect contrast with her fair hair was the black Spanish lace gown over pale green taffeta, the skirt swirling to ankle-length, worn by Mrs. R. J. Nation.

Mrs. Elza Mayhew, seen with Mrs. H. R. Rutnan, was gowned in bouffant black taffeta, the portrait neckline accented with rhinestone necklace. A fur cape completed her ensemble.

A smart black ensemble was chosen by Mrs. W. H. Hickman, and Mrs. H. P. Johns was also gowned in black. Her crepe dinner dress was fashioned with lace bodice and very brief sleeves. She wore a Canadian squirrel jacket.

Palest grey jersey was chosen by dark-haired Mrs. J. H. Wade, who topped her toe-touching gown with a cloak of black.

Mrs. C. N. Chubb, who attended with Mrs. Maitland Young and her sister, Mrs. Harland Knowles, was gowned in autumn gold satin. Mrs. Maitland Young topped her black lace and taffeta gown with a small fur jacket.

Mrs. Knowles wore a black evening skirt with cherry velvet jacket.

Mrs. Alan B. Morkill had as her guest Miss E. M. Macrae. Mrs. A. S. Denny was gowned in royal blue lace, with topcoat of broadtail, and Miss Kathleen Agnew chose a French floral print with sequin top.

Deep rose-hued crepe, and black seal coat was the choice of Mrs. W. W. McGill, and Mrs. H. A. Wallace wore a full-length fur coat with her cocktail frock in honey-beige taffeta.

Dark-haired Mrs. T. Juelsberg was a striking picture in a new ankle-length formal, black lace over natural toned taffeta. Red velvet encircled her waist, ending in a large red velvet bow. Her complementing red velvet slippers were etched with rhinestones and her wrap was blue fox fur. She was accompanied by Mr. Juelsberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barraclough were greeting friends in their first social appearance since Mr. Barraclough's serious illness. Slate grey crepe dinner gown was worn by Mrs. Barraclough, styled with pencil-slim skirt and peplum bodice with grey lace yoke. Her fur coat was tulip black squirrel.

Mr. Walter Eilers, whose wife plays in the orchestra, was accompanied by his daughter Eleanor, in blue taffeta, and the Eilers' house guest, Mrs. L. R. McVicar, of San Diego, who wore a plum colored ankle-length gown with sequin jacket.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Markham were there, the latter in black crepe with brilliant trim, topped with a beaver jacket; also Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson. A black crepe dinner dress with long fine black wool topcoat was Mrs. Wilson's choice.

Black satin was worn by Mrs. J. G. Worth, who came with Mr. Worth and Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Roxburgh, the latter wearing black taffeta.

Pale blue Chinese brocade jacket, embroidered in gold and red, with a short dark blue velvet skirt, was worn by Mrs. J. Alan Baker. She was accompanied by Mr. Baker.

Following the concert, a reception to honor Gertrude Huntly Green was held at the Beach Drive home of Hon. R. W. Mayhew and Mrs. Mayhew. Arrangements of chrysanthemums and bright autumn flowers formed an attractive setting for the occasion.

Rev. And Mrs. Bolton Honored By Parishioners

More than 100 members of St. Mary's Church Parish, Met-chosen, gathered in parish rooms last evening to pay tribute to Rev. H. M. Bolton and Mrs. Bolton, who marked the 25th anniversary of their coming to the parish. Guests included many old timers, members of the parish before the arrival of Rev. and Mrs. Bolton.

The well-loved couple were presented with a silver tray, suitably inscribed, and a purse. They also received a personal gift sent from Mrs. P. L. Debnay in Edmonton. Those assisting with arrangements were Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Jenkins, Mrs. G. Weir and Mr. Ronald Weir, Mrs. F. Reid, Mrs. J. Leeming, Mrs. F. Dobie, Mr. Carlson and Mr. Kenneth Glyde.

Total for the month of Aug., 1950, was 200 permits for new construction, valued at $503,889.

Press Club Honors Walter Thompson

High esteem which Canadian newspapermen hold for Walter S. Thompson, retiring C.N.R. public relations director, will be marked this week with the conferring on Mr. Thompson of life membership in the Montreal Men's Press Club.

The only other person to ever receive the same unique honor is Governor-General Viscount Alexander.

Fishing Boom In South Africa

CAPETOWN (CP) — South Africa, the country where something always "turns up," is enjoying a gold boom in the Orange Free State, and a wool boom and a less-publicized fishing boom on the Cape's western coast.

The tin shanties that used to make up the little Cape Province fishing hamlet of Veldrift are being shouldered aside by modern houses, garages and factories. Neon lights flash where candles used to gutter.

Veldrift has struck it rich in the waters of the Atlantic and swarming fish shoals have rocketed fishermen's incomes from $124 to $6,200 a year.

The fishermen are buying new boats, new cars and new houses and are allowing themselves the unheard of luxury of trips to Capetown.

Pleased At Award

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Award of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize to Dr. Ralph Bunche, senior director of the U.N. Trusteeship Council, has been received with deep satisfaction in Sweden. Dr. Bunche was given the award for services as U.N. mediator in Palestine.

Credit Unions For Manitoba Indians

WINNIPEG (CP) — Credit unions are being tried among treaty Indians of northern Manitoba to teach them an art in which they are by nature unskilled—that of money management.

One attempt was hardly a success. Organized for a Cree band at Cross Lake, 330 miles north of Winnipeg, it died in birth because the organizers neglected to keep the band's savings under control.

Thomas Pollack, a lay missionary in charge of the settlement for a year, said the union went in the red when he made a trip to the "outside." He returned to find the band's credit union committee had loaned all its funds to about 30 members—each of whom bought an outboard motor with the proceeds. The loans were never repaid.

12 Killed, 8 Missing

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—The Tropical Oil Company said today 12 crew members were killed and eight were missing after its gasoline tanker Opon was set ablaze Sunday night by lightning. The casualty list included 11 severely injured and 10 slightly injured.

New 'Phone Rates Effective October 6

A new schedule of rates for the British Columbia Telephone Company, supplanting the rates authorized in an interim order, has been approved by the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada in a written judgment. The new rates will be effective October 6.

In June, 1949, the Company applied to the Board for new rates to meet increased costs. Pending a final decision, the Board gave some relief to the Company in May, 1950, by way of an interim order which approved a new scale of rates. These were put in effect, pending the final decision of the Board.

Now the Board has delivered its written judgment which authorizes some further rate changes. These will be effective October 6.

To prevent any misunderstanding, we wish to stress that the written judgment of the Board was not in response to any fresh application by the Company, but was merely the Board's final answer to the Company's application made in June, 1949.

The latest rates authorized are still less than those requested by the Company. In the meantime costs have continued to rise.

Telephone Bills Dated October 6 or Later

Will Be Based on New Rates

Telephone bills dated October 6 or later will be based on the new rates. Because the billing dates vary with the different exchanges, telephone bills will contain an adjustment between the old rates and the new for the period from October 6 to the billing date, with the exception of those dated October 6. In such cases, details will be shown on a statement enclosed with the bill. Because of this adjustment, the total rental charges on the first bill may be greater than on later bills.

No Change in Extension Rates

Subscribers will not have to pay anything additional for extension telephones as the new schedule provides for no change in present extension telephone rates.

HELP PREVENT TOOTH DECAY!

AMMONIATED LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE

...designed to help prevent decay 3 ways!

You've undoubtedly read about this great new anti-decay formula in your newspapers and magazines. It's the famous formula, developed by the University of Illinois Foundation, that caused such a vast interest in dental circles because of its promising method of attacking tooth decay by means of the chemical action of the ammonium ion.

In preliminary tests conducted at the University, case after case of reduction in the incidence of tooth decay was reported. Now the manufacturers of Listerine Antiseptic make this same formula readily available to you and to your family with the introduction of Listerine Ammoniated Tooth Paste.

Start in with Listerine Ammoniated Tooth Paste today. Use it regularly, as directed, morning and night and immediately after eating. Notice its delightful, tangy, refreshing flavor. You'll like it. Your children will like it. Lambert Pharmacal Co. (Canada) Ltd., Toronto, Ontario.

1. Chemical action reduces mouth acidity. Mouth acidity encourages decay.

2. Mechanical action cleans surfaces as teeth are brushed—helps break up and remove decay-breeding deposits.

3. Chemical action checks acid-forming bacteria—a major cause of decay.

More Than 3,000,000 Bees Stung Into Action

Smoke and fog caused more than 100 accidents on Ontario highways in a few hours. Blazing, overturned transport loaded with 73 colonies of bees in hives, each colony numbering 45,000 bees, is shown on the Queen Elizabeth Way at Oakville. Escaping bees seriously stung the driver, a helper, police and a garbage man.—(SNS Photo)

PARTY FROM U.S. EXPLORES

Archeologists Hunting In Turkey For Ancient King Midas Tomb

ANKARA, Turkey (Reuter)—A team of American archeologists working 100 miles south of here hopes to find the tomb of King Midas, the legendary Phrygian ruler with "the golden touch." Professor Rodney Young of Pennsylvania University and the group working with him hope to complete the excavations next year. They are working at Gordion. From the tenth to the third century B.C. the capital of Phrygia stood on this site. Legend has it that Macchus, god of wine and general revelry, gave Midas the power that everything he touched would turn to gold. The gift backfired on the avaricious old king, however. Bathing was made difficult, if not impossible, and tragedy resulted when Midas touched his daughter—turning her into a little gold statue. At any rate, the expedition so far has found no fantastic treasure trove as might adorn OXFORD, Eng. (CP)—Princess Astrid, 18-year-old daughter of Norway's Crown Prince Olav, will enter Oxford University this month as an undergraduate at Lady Margaret College.

King Midas' burial place. Not until next year do they expect to crack open an exceptionally high burial mound which may turn out to be the tomb of Midas. The central point of the diggings is a large burial mound some 1,800 feet by 900 and more than 45 feet high. Around it are about 50 other mounds, most of which are probably burial sites also. One of the highest, possible the burial place of King Midas, rises to about 120 feet and is among the highest known in Europe or Asia Minor. It is the one scheduled for investigation next year. No startling finds have been made by the diggers. But they have unearthed a number of exquisitely-fashioned gold bracelets and necklets, a silver mirror with an ivory handle and an ivory rouge-box in the shape of a duck. Archeologists believe the woman who buried her cheeks with the aid of this mirror and the rouge-box lived about six centuries before the birth of Christ. A striking feature of the bracelets is the joints, formed by interlocking lions' heads. The necklets, of equally fine workmanship, show representations of acorns and pomegranates.

Valuable Acres Reclaimed By Pigs

HEADLEY, Hampshire, Eng. (CP)—Maj. L. L. T. Whitaker's formula for reclaiming marginal land is—pigs. He has turned 120 sandy, gorse-covered acres on his farm into fine agricultural ground—with the help of a pig population of 300.

First, the ground is cleared and kale—a rough cabbage used for cattle feed—is planted. Pigs are then turned loose in the field, where they eat the weeds and ignore the kale. By this means the ground is cleared and fertilized, at the same time producing cattle feed for winter. Next step is the planting of potatoes, corn, vegetables or grass.

Why I Believe There Is A God

By FULTON OURSLER

CHAPTER 16
(PART TWO)

The world needs a new crusade for Christianity, each Christian a crusader on his own. Furthermore, the crusade is needed internationally, nationally, locally, and in our private lives.

And there, I urge upon you, is where the crusade must begin—in our own devoted lives. Back to devotion, back to our knees, and the crusade is already started.

Just as the active Christian has both duties and opportunities in his private life and in his home community, so he has a part to play on the national scene.

A role in national affairs, however humble or obscure an active Christian may be, can be continuous, uninterrupted, and effective.

This statement means, to begin with, that we must be interested in national affairs and try to understand them. So again I remind you of the need to keep yourself informed.

It means knowing not only your city and state representatives, but also the names of your national representatives. Theoretically, at least, they are your servants. You pay their salaries. The money for their pay comes from the taxes which you pay. Certainly your wishes should concern them—and your objections, your indignation, your praise.

If we write them frequently, they may feel inclined to consider us a nuisance, and say we bother them too much—but what will we Christians bother them about except the issues which threaten a Christian civilization? On such items we ought to bother them—morning, noon, and night!

If enough voters in their districts do bother them, they will take heed. For in their whimsical moments they will admit to you that the first duty of an office-holder is to be re-elected; otherwise he will no longer be an office-holder.

What are the aspects of national affairs of greatest concern to active Christians?

First, foremost, basic, is the need for simple, old-fashioned honesty in the thinking and acting of public officials. I do not mean merely to be on our guard against their misappropriation of our money. Theft is a crime that can be punished. I refer specifically to dishonesty of the intellect, by which some politicians whitewash a black thing and call it pure; the depravity of the sense of public obligation that makes some of them hide the truth, or distort it; goads them to offer false promises, when they know it is impossible to keep them, and all such cheap-jack imposture born in the undemocratic conviction of some politicians that the people are fools.

For such tricksters, living or dead, there should be no excuses. To deceive the voters, to betray the people may not be a crime, but it is a sin and as such is never to be condoned by the active Christian. He must add his strength to all other forces for good in standing for old-fashioned incorruptibility and those ancient, Christian ideals of personal honor which must again be the mark and sign of American statesmen.

So we must condemn, by voice and letter; all deceit practiced against us. We must make these servants of ours tell us the truth or we must get rid of them. We must make them keep their promises or we must fire them.

It is because the people have been lenient and lackadaisical in the face of official intellectual corruption that they have so often been bamboozled and betrayed. We who voted such men into office have been remiss in our Christian duty, especially when we shrugged our shoulders and asked: "What else do you expect—in politics?" We must expect and demand a great deal more, and not resort to any easy, comfortable brush-off.

Democracy is on trial, totalitarianism, with its atheism and power cruelty, is just around the corner—and there is no longer time or place in our world for a comfortable Christian.

We active Christians will be especially vigilant about attacks on religion. In all the courts today the atheists are busy sniping at the believers in God. Raising the cry of constitutional rights, they really want to destroy the mother of all rights, the freedom of religion. Some are sincere fanatics, hating God; still others are the agents of that Red Fascism which calls itself Communism.

We will keep ourselves well informed about all this, very busy in our New Crusade. In doing so we will remember that freedom of religion means freedom from molestation in the exercise of our religious freedom, and freedom from insult. We will view with suspicion the activities in the democratic process of men who traduce Christ's holy name and tell the Son of God to get out of the way to make room for Stalin.

BUT NO HATRED

When national conferences are addressed by men who hold such sacrilegious views as that, we must be on the alert for the deliberations, resolutions, and recommendations of the leaders who sponsor such speakers. And we must make our revulsion felt to them—and to those who support them.

It is not an easy task to be a good citizen in a democracy. The job calls for a study of issues and of men, for alertness in national affairs, for Christian charity in the face of active and skilled anti-religious activities, and for even more Christian charity and forbearance toward the enemies of our way of life.

Yet it is precisely in this charity that we have victory over evil. To fail in that is to put overpowering weapons in the hands of enemies. For, "Look," they will cry, "these hypocritical people are just as bad as we are. They pretend to renounce hate, and yet see how they hate us."

We must not hand them such a triumph. Instead, we shall illustrate our principles by applying them in every encounter.

In this broad spirit of Christian sympathy we must, nevertheless, be active in opposition to all moves, all schemes to bring about the tyranny of Red totalitarianism, or any other form of tyranny. We must give our strength to protest movements against the furtherance of totalitarianism, Fascist or Communist, anywhere in this land, whether in the bureaucracy of administrative government or in the offices of lobbyists.

Ours can never be, except accidentally, the view of one party against another; ours is a pure Christian point of view, needed no matter what group is in power.

In this cause we write letters and telegrams, sign petitions and let our views be known.

I urge you all to be active in the New Crusade—not to see things under the bed, of course, but not to be taken in by the forces of Evil which today are fighting a life-and-death battle to take our religious freedom from us—in the name of democracy.

RUSSIA PAYS DUES TO U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The Russians have made a one-quarter down-payment on their 1950 United Nations assessments.

This was seen today as an indication they have no intention of leaving the U.N. in the near future, if at all. Members may pay any time up to Dec. 31 without being in arrears.

Many European Fishermen On Grand Banks

S. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland fishermen on the Grand Banks don't bother staring any more. Instead they spend the nights counting the lights of other vessels on the overcrowded fishing grounds.

Skippers arriving in port say the banks have been invaded by a large number of French, Portuguese and Spanish fishing vessels. They range in size from tiny 58-ton Spanish trawlers to 1,000-ton "liners," as the Newfoundlanders call the big ones. The skipper of the Newfoundland vessel Blue Spray reported recently counting the lights of 38 ships one night.

Spain leads the parade of foreign vessels, and most of the Spanish vessels are new. They are small trawlers each carrying a crew of 15 or 16 men. They fish in pairs, towing a net between them which enables them to sweep a half-mile of ocean at one time.

Since the start of the fishing this year 65 Spanish vessels have called here for supplies and repairs. Most of them are salt fishing. At present 17 Portuguese vessels are on the banks off Newfoundland, with another 46 from that country operating off Greenland.

From Fecamp, St. Malo and Bordeaux in France 48 vessels, 15 of them after fresh fish, visited the banks this season.

Play Full Part Of College Life

Men and women taking credit courses in Victoria College evening series are as much a part of university life as the regular daytime students, Dr. John M. Ewing, principal said at the informal opening ceremony at the college.

"And in the end, the result will be the same," he said, after J. B. Clearhue, K.C., of Victoria College council, welcomed the students.

Enthusiastic response to the two credit courses, English 200 and psychology 202, was reported by Robert Wallace, director of the evening division. They are the only two of the offered courses being given owing to the limit of 15 registrations required for each.

During the next two weeks, further registrations for these two credit subjects will be accepted.

In R.C.M.P. court Tuesday afternoon, Dennis C. O'Brien and Tim E. Cordick, charged with assaulting and injuring taxi driver John Dunn on the Four Mile Hill Aug. 17, were remanded to Oct. 13. Case is being heard by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

$8,000 Damage In Saanich Fire

About $8,000 damage was done by fire and smoke at the Playfair Grocery, East Saanich Road, Tuesday morning.

The fire destroyed a new $2,200 sedan. Firemen confined the fire to the living quarters and basement. Flames did not reach the store, owned by Mrs. A. Playfair.

Saanich firemen are credited with a "good save." Sidney Volunteer Fire Department also attended and aided.

C.N.R. Orders Diesels For Eastern Service

MONTREAL—With the ordering of 18 more Diesel electric locomotives of 1,000 horsepower each by the C.N.R., which was announced here today by E. A. Bromley, vice-president, purchases and stores, two additional services of the railway will be dieselized for both passenger and freight service.

The new locomotives, costing approximately $2,385,000, will go into service from Montreal to Granby, Que., and between Matapedia and Gaspé when received in the spring of 1951 from the Canadian Locomotive Company.

12 Czech Refugees Fly To Britain

LONDON (Reuter) — Twelve Czech refugees have arrived in Britain aboard a plane which swooped down and picked them up at a rendezvous 15 miles north of Prague.

The refugees—some of them women and children—have been granted asylum in Britain and are being held at an undisclosed address in North London.

A Czech Embassy spokesman said the embassy had not heard of the escape Saturday until Wednesday's announcement by the Home Office. He said his office would apply for the plane's return to the Czechoslovakia airlines.

Boys With $9,000 Held By Police

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway police Wednesday night removed two Saskatoon boys from a train arriving here, then turned them over to city police after questioning. The boys were reported carrying a sum of money in excess of $9,000.

Police made no statement, but it is believed the two 12-year-olds are being held as the two who disappeared from Saskatoon homes Tuesday.

To Call Tenders Before Money By-Law Presented

Oak Bay will call for tenders for steel pipe for its large new water main to connect with the city's system before the by-law to cover cost of the material has been put to the electors.

Reason for the decision to ask for bids for 4,200 feet of pipe at once arose from the fact steel is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain.

It was felt that if by any chance the by-law was not approved, there would be no trouble in disposing of the pipe plus dresser couplings because of the demand at the present time.

The pipe will join the city system at Lansdowne and Foul Bay roads and will be laid along Lansdowne through the Uplands. From it, three 12-inch pipes will channel water to serve the entire section of Oak Bay south of Lansdowne.

A parallel 12-inch pipe serves the area north of the road.

When installation is completed summer water shortages which have plagued residents should be a thing of the past.

Water Supply Holds

In spite of 23 weeks of dry weather, Ladysmith water supply has continued to meet demand, water works committee reported to the Ladysmith City Council.

Although Stocking Lake was lowered five feet during the summer, a new supply from Holland Creek was sufficient to prevent a shortage. Committee reported an additional 60,000,000 gallons of water at Company Dam could be directed into Holland Creek at a cost of $1,000.

ASTHMA BRONCHITIS Relieved in one hour

If night after night you gasp, wheeze, choke, fight for breath—you do so needlessly. Temptation's RAZ-MAH brings longed-for relief in less than one hour. Your phlegm comes up—breathing is easier. Sleep is possible again. Thousands of sufferers report comforting relief. One 60c box of Temptation's RAZ-MAH will convince you. Why suffer longer? Get restful sleep tonight! "Mother Knows Best"

An ancient vodvil gag . . . sure formula, was that crack about your mother-in-law. A buttinsky sort, a domineering old bag, 'bout all she did was chew the rag. And a comical sight, she was made to appear, with about 40 lbs. overweight . . . in the rear. Yes—she's been the butt of thousands of jokes, so it's for ALL mothers-in-law THESE counter-stories. 'Cause I have just pecked and waved Ta Ta, to MY very helpful mother-in-law. Who has been with us a week or so. I was more than sorry to see her go. Not just because a gardener I've lost, but because she's fun 'n' never a frost. Possibly adding some years in a physical sense, yet her sense of humor her young defence. Like that day outside in the blackberry bed, when an apple fell down and whammed her head. She rubbed the spot on her silvery bean, & then went after that Gravenstein. She got all scratched, but didn't get sore, she just sat in the brambles & ate to the core. And as she sized up our messy landscape, she was determined that she would put in shape. And so with shovel, mattock & pick, she's made it all so spank-spik. You should just see our vegetation, over all has come such a transformation. Where once was disorder & faded stalks, now all smooth earth, even swept the walks. With stones piled high in many a heap, she surely has solved my fall upkeep. And she threw thousands of bulbs in little hills, "replant 'em, and you'll have double your daffodils. I couldn't waste time, bedding them back, nor did I want to be, a forever humpback." Yes . . . all around, a fancy fall face, I even that I'd come home to the wrong place. The G.F. came out, as I blest our guest, "Better plant them, dear . . . MOTHER KNOWS BEST."

DID you ever see a curve . . . sitting??? well, you can if you visit us. You'll see the most curvaceous and the most beautiful Chesterfields we have ever shown. The covers are in an all-wool floral frieze, available in grey . . . emerald green . . . crushed rose . . . and cherry. Nothing could be lovelier for YOUR live-in room . . . won't you drop in and see??? Remember these gracious suites are all curves . . . not just ordinary sets with straight fronts . . . the price??? Oh, don't worry about that 'cause we think the price is ridiculous. What could be nicer . . . your OWN beautiful curves, plus those on your suite . . . irresistible.
